

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Note:—IT will be seen that there is a difference between the Amount of the Return in N° 1 for 1827, and the Return N° 2, which is accounted for by the fact that the former shows the Amount of Payments made in 1827, and the latter the Amount of Charge properly belonging to that year. Some items of the Payments in 1827 belong to the Charge of 1826, while a portion of the Charge of 1827 was not paid until after the close of that year. And it is the balance between these items, amounting to £. 188. 17s. 11d. which forms the difference between the two Returns.

IN A REPORT made to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, dated 6th December 1827, this Board stated, That at that time "twenty Claims remained unadjudicated; that "in most of them the requisite proof had not been produced from the French offices; that the delay "in the prosecution thereof was one over which the Board had no control, and that they could not, "even then, state any time within which they could rely upon the production of those proofs, or "upon their finally learning that such proofs could not be produced. They submitted it therefore "to their Lordships, whether any or what further time should be granted to those Claimants, or "whether such a time had elapsed since the commencement of this portion of their business in "May 1826, that it might then, in their Lordships' judgment, be expedient to call upon the "Claimants for their proof without further delay, and in failure of its production, to proceed to "rejection, and take the necessary measures for closing the business of this Commission."

By Mr. Hill's Letter, dated 20th December 1827, the Board were informed, That "with respect "to the Claims mentioned, which had not yet been determined upon, in consequence of the "non-production of the required Documents, my Lords desired they should communicate with "those parties individually, and fix a day, after which they should receive no Documents whatever "in support of those Claims; apprizing the parties that it was their Lordships' intention that the "Commission under which they acted should be broken up, and their accounts finally closed on "the 25th March next; after which no Documents whatever in support of Claims would be received, nor would any farther investigation into any Claims be authorised. And my Lords further "desired, that the Commissioners would close their Accounts and transmit them to their Lordships' "Board, and break up their Establishment on the 25th March next."

Since the receipt of this Order, the Commissioners have found that 8 Claims are, in their judgment, entitled to £. 19,621. and one other Claim to a sum not yet ascertained.

The proofs on the other 11, are not yet arrived.

Under these circumstances, the Board consider, that all the business of Adjudication in the Cases now ready, will be finished on the 25th March, as specified in Mr. Hill's Letter, when the Board are ordered to close their proceedings.

The Board, however, think it right to observe, that they have not been enabled, nor will be able by the said 25th March, to complete and make copies, &c. &c. from the drafts of the later Awards and Adjudications, and particularly of those now pending, in case a reference thereto should be hereafter required by His Majesty's Government, or the parties interested.

GENERAL RESULT.

THE BOARD has adjudicated in the whole, including Rejections, 2,396 CLAIMS; of which

345	—	—	in the Ionian Islands, Malta, and Sicily;
220	—	—	in the Isle of France and India;
101	—	—	in Canada; and
40	—	—	in the West Indies and America.

And the Board have distributed among the Claimants entitled to payment, as stated above, in Capital and Interest, about £.6,962,310. Sterling.

CHARITIES INQUIRY.

EVIDENCE

Taken before the FINANCE COMMITTEE, and the RETURN laid before the Committee in 1828, which were presented to The House upon the 24th day of June 1829.

SIR HENRY PARNELL, BARONET,

IN THE CHAIR.

John Willing Warren, Esquire, called in ; and Examined.

ARE you Chairman of the Commissioners of Charitable Inquiry?—The Speaker is their Chairman; I am one of the Commissioners.

In what year were the Commissioners appointed?—The first commission was appointed in the year 1818; it first embraced only charities for education; the following year it was enlarged, and made to extend to all charities of whatever description.

Have you any statement of the expenditure?—I have brought a statement of the general expenditure of the commission from its origin. This statement was prepared in obedience to an order of the House of Commons for a return of the general expenses of the commission. We have not had time to make out any more particular return, but the accounts are here.

How many Reports have the commissioners made?—They have made nineteen.

What prospect is there of the labours of the commission being brought to a close?—I am quite unable to answer that question, it depends so entirely on the state of the charities in the counties which they visit.

What proportion of the charities have you examined into?—We have completed the charities of 13 counties, and there are, I think, 16 more counties that are in progress.

Does the commission extend to Wales and Scotland?—To England and Wales, not to Scotland.

Is it probable there will be as much business to go through in the remaining counties as in those you have examined?—It is impossible to judge of that. We find the number of charities in different counties very different; and even the number does not enable us to form any correct estimate of what the amount of labour will be, because sometimes a great number of charities in one district will require much less investigation than a much smaller number in another.

What is the total expense of the commission up to this time?—£. 138,850.

Is there any thing due at this time on account of the commission?—No, there is nothing now due.

Is there nothing now due for salaries to the commissioners?—There will be a half-year's payment of salary due on the 5th of April.

Do the commissioners receive their salary by votes?—No, it is provided by the Act that the salaries shall be paid half-yearly.

What are the salaries?—There are ten examining commissioners at 1,000*l.* a year.

How do they divide themselves?—Into five boards. Under the first commission the number of acting commissioners was eight, and three were required to make a board. There were then two travelling boards, and one in London, made up by the assistance of some one of the honorary commissioners. Under the present commission there are ten acting commissioners, and two make a board. These are now divided into five boards.

What is the annual expense of the establishment?—I cannot state that from the paper I have before me, but the accounts are here. By the Act, 8,000*l.* a year are allowed for the expenses of the commission, exclusive of the commissioners' salaries; but the expenses have not amounted to so much, as this paper will show. The ten commissioners receive each 1,000*l.* a year, the secretary receives 500*l.* a year, the five clerks 300*l.* each, and there is a permanent messenger and house-keeper at 80*l.* a year; those are all the permanent salaries; the commissioners of course have travelling allowances; their expenses are paid.

In what way are those allowances regulated?—They are regulated by a weekly or daily payment; the two commissioners receive ten guineas a week, or 1*l.* 10*s.* a day; the clerk receives a guinea a day; the clerks are gentlemen whom we have selected with a view to their assisting us with their knowledge of the proceedings, as well as their manual labour.

How many commissioners go together?—Two go together.

What time do they devote to the inquiry?—It would be somewhat difficult to answer that precisely; I should think that, on the whole, the time expended in the examinations in London and in the country, is about four months in the year. I do not mean consecutively, but at different times; while the commissioners are in the country the examinations are taken with great diligence every day, and the whole of every day is devoted to taking them; the commissioners then return to town, and there they digest their Reports, and a great deal of additional matter is frequently collected in London.

Have you a short-hand writer attending to take the evidence?—Our clerks take the evidence, not in short-hand.

Does not that occupy much more time than if it was taken in short-hand?—We think not; we endeavour so to take the evidence as that it shall in some measure form a preparation for the Report; the examinations are not in general taken down in question and answer, they are gone through with the witness, and when we learn what the witness has to state, the answers are dictated by us to the clerk who takes the notes, and are taken down in the form of a narrative; the witness, of course, hearing and confirming it.

What are your hours of examination when in the country?—We commence at ten, or about that time, and we profess to continue till four; that has been the case with the board to which I belong; but we frequently sit much later, and often work in the evenings.

Do you consider that eight months is required to digest the evidence you take in the course of four?—No, not eight certainly; but I think it requires as much time to digest the evidence and prepare the Report, as to take the examinations; we find the correspondence we have to enter into, and the investigation of accounts and other documents, take much time, and we frequently have to add further examinations to those taken in the country. I should say, from my own experience, for the amount of eight months in the year in general, we are occupied in the examination, and the business belonging to it.

What become of the other four months of the year?—That the commissioners hope they are entitled to consider as their own, to attend to their professional and other concerns.

Who are the commissioners?—I have not a list, but I can state who they are; there are ten honorary commissioners, and ten stipendiary commissioners; the examining commissioners are, myself, Mr. William Grant, Mr. Henry Hugh Holbech, Mr. William Roberts, Mr. Wilkinson Matthews, Mr. Robert Marsham, Mr. James M'Mahon, Mr. Daniel Finch, Dr. Burnaby of the Commons, and Mr. George Daniell.

Have those commissioners any other employment?—They are all barristers.

Are they acting barristers?—They were all so when appointed, but some of them have now ceased to act as barristers, two of them very lately; they are of considerable standing. I would here beg to add, that the commissioners being all actively engaged in their profession when appointed, did not conceive it to be expected of them that they should forego their professional views in consequence of the appointment. They therefore endeavoured so to arrange the times of taking the examinations as to admit of their necessary attendance in the courts, and on the circuits and sessions.

Do

Do the honorary commissioners ever attend?—Yes, they attend at the general boards.

How often are those general boards?—They are held always twice a year previously to the presenting the half-yearly Report; each board produce their own Reports, and they are considered, at least so far as it is necessary, at a general board, or more than one if necessary.

What is the rule as to meeting in London?—There is no rule, but each board meet as they find it expedient.

Is there any register kept of the times of meetings?—Yes.

How often do they meet in each week?—At the time they are in London they meet very seldom, except when they are on London charities, or those within reach of London; the business done with respect to the country charities which have been examined into after the return of the commissioners, is sometimes done at the office, but more frequently at their private houses or their chambers.

Were you one of the original commissioners?—Yes.

From whom did you receive your instructions as to the extent of your duty, and the times of attendance, and modes of proceeding?—We received no instructions at all; we met as soon as the commission was issued, and considered what mode we should proceed in, and our proceeding has been on our own suggestion; the honorary commissioners, as well as the stipendiary commissioners, met for that purpose.

Was it left for yourselves to fix what time you would devote to those matters?—Yes, entirely.

Has no report been made to the Treasury of the time you would devote to it?—No.

Have not the Treasury been acquainted with the number of months devoted to this matter?—No, they have not, except by the accounts of our travelling expenses.

Have there been no other reports to the Treasury than those which have been printed?—Our accounts are passed at the Treasury, but our Reports are made to the Secretary of State.

Do you not think the business might be much more quickly performed, and perhaps better performed, if the commissioners had nothing else to do but to attend to that duty, and sit de die in diem?—Unquestionably, if they were to sit de die in diem they would get through more business; the business they do get through, I think, they could not get through more expeditiously than they do.

Making allowance for the time they devote to it?—Yes.

Does the secretary issue regular summonses for board days when in town, or does the secretary always remain in the office, and allow the commissioners to come when they please?—The commissioners appoint days when they wish to meet.

Do the same commissioners always form the same board?—Not in the examination of London charities, but the same commissioners usually travel together.

When the commissioners are in London, is there any additional expense similar to the expense for travelling?—None at all, there is no expense then; and that is one reason why we wish to shorten as much as possible the time that we pass in the country; we employ ourselves there in taking evidence simply, and taking abstracts of deeds, and we devote so much time in the preparation of the Report, and digesting the evidence in London, because there it is done without any extra expense.

Which are the 13 counties which are finished?—Bedford, Cumberland, Derby, Devon, Oxford, Rutland, Somerset, Southampton, Stafford, Surrey and Southwark, Westmorland, York, and the City of Bristol. York may be considered as three counties.

What proportion of the 10 commissioners are employed in travelling in the country?—They all form travelling boards; all four boards are now out of town on their circuits; my colleague is on his professional circuit, otherwise we also should be now travelling.

Do the same two commissioners always go together?—That is the general principle, but it is not invariably observed; one of the commissioners was taken from our commission, and went to Ireland on the Irish Education Commission; during that time we had a broken board, and the work of the commissioner who was so let loose from his companion was apportioned among the rest; his time was not lost; but that made a variation in the mode of the commissioners going together, and other causes have at times occasioned such variations.

John W. Warren,

Do any of the honorary commissioners make excursions?—No, never.

You have described the clerks as being intelligent persons, fit to associate with yourselves, and to assist you in your work; are they men so competent as to be able to carry on an investigation of this kind by themselves?—They have much assisted us in subordinate parts of the investigation, but I do not think them competent to carry on the investigation by themselves.

Are they bred to the law?—Yes, they are most of them gentlemen intended, I believe, for solicitors, or actually such, and one who means to come to the bar.

Of course the travelling expenses are charged only for the four months?—Only for the time that the commissioners are actually out, from the day of leaving London till the day that they return.

Even when they are resident for some time in certain places a daily allowance is charged?—Yes.

Although they should be stopping for a month at any particular place?—Yes, the allowance is intended to meet their expenses of living at inns; it does not cover the charges of the road, that is, posting and coach hire; they are charged as contingent expenses.

Was it left to the discretion of the commissioners to apportion their own circuits?—Yes.

Do the honorary commissioners ever interfere to direct the course which the other commissioners shall take?—They never do. At the setting off of the commission there was a general consultation with the honorary commissioners as to the course that should be pursued, and the circuits that it was proposed to take were submitted to them, and they approved of them; but from that time they have never interfered, but have left the stipendiary commissioners to pursue their own course.

Have the commissioners you have now named been the same the whole time?—Yes, except the two last, who came in on the second commission; under the first commission there were only eight commissioners; Doctor Burnaby and Mr. Daniell were the two last appointed.

Is Doctor Burnaby an advocate in the Commons?—Yes, he is.

In what branch is Mr. Daniell?—He is at the Chancery bar; I believe he has now withdrawn from practice.

Have the honorary commissioners the same power under the Act as the stipendiary commissioners?—Yes, precisely so.

The only difference is, their not receiving pay, and not going circuits?—Yes, they may go the circuits if they choose.

You enter sometimes into very minute inquiries?—Yes, we sometimes do.

Are not the greater number of cases of very small amount, and such as turn out not worth inquiring into?—The greater number perhaps are of small amount; we frequently find that those of the smallest amount give us the greatest trouble, they are the most likely to be overlooked and lost.

Does your experience as to what has passed, in an examination of this sort, lead you to think it would be possible to take a somewhat more summary view of the charities in the remaining counties you have not inquired into, by which the trouble and expense might be materially abridged?—We have thought that the mode we have pursued was that which alone was calculated to give such a knowledge of the state of the different charities as should secure them from future oblivion, or future abuse; I am far from saying it might not be done in a more abridged form, but we have frequently considered the case, and have come to the conclusion that we could best perform our duty in pursuing the course we have done.

Although it is evidently desirable to have it as much in detail as possible, yet considering the great expense to the Public, might not the substantial part of the inquiry be attained without going to the extent of detail which you have hitherto gone into?—I cannot say that it might not be done, but I can but repeat what I have stated; that we think we have not gone into any further detail than was advisable for giving a complete knowledge of the state of the different charities; I am quite aware how desirable it is to make the inquiry as little expensive as possible; I would rather, before I answer that question, consult my colleagues when they come to town; an individual opinion of my own might mislead the Committee.

[The Witness was requested, after consulting the other members of the board, to furnish a statement in writing of the view of the commissioners on the subject.]

In

In cases where abuses have been discovered, what course have the commissioners taken to put an end to those abuses?—The commissioners have in fact no remedial powers; they are only to inquire and report; but they have, where it appeared that the abuse could be remedied in that way, endeavoured to do so by representation to the parties, and pointing out to them in what manner their duty ought to be performed, and in very numerous cases their representations have been attended to, the misconduct has been corrected; that is a good resulting from the labours of the commissioners which does not always appear from their Reports; it has been silently performed, and will so have escaped public notice; where the abuse has been such as it was out of their power so to correct, they have, under the directions of the Act, submitted those cases to the attorney-general, that he might decide whether they should be brought before the Court of Chancery in the shape of an information.

John W. Warren,
Esq.
18 March,
1828.

Has it occurred to you and the other commissioners that any board or controlling authority could be established locally in each county, with a view of preventing the abuses in future occurring?—No idea of that kind has been under consideration; among the commissioners it has been very much under consideration with them what methods could be adopted for preventing some of the mischiefs that have arisen in the management of the charities, such as some mode of appointing trustees where all the former trustees are dead, or there is likely to be such a failure; from such failures in past times we find many charities lost, or in a state of obscurity, which we have with difficulty developed: we have also considered what means there might be of depositing documents respecting charities in some safe place, where they might not be liable to destruction or loss, which they are frequently by remaining in private hands; but though we have thought of it much, we have never been able to come to any satisfactory opinion as to the best way of attaining either of those points.

Will you take the trouble of consulting, at the first meeting of the commissioners, whether any suggestions might be offered for those purposes, the guarding of the documents, and an immediate check, by a power of appeal being given to local authority?—I will certainly do that.

Have you been in the habit of preparing the matter for your visits to different counties, by sending circulars of the heads of inquiry which you should wish to enter into, to any of the resident gentlemen or clergy?—No, not exactly that; the course we pursue before we enter any county is, to write circulars to the clergyman of each parish, requesting a return of the charities in those parishes, and the names of the trustees.

Do you not think it would be practicable to make your previous inquiries a little more full, so as to shorten your inquiry at the place?—I do not see how we can shorten the inquiry more than we do, by requiring them to bring all their deeds and all their documents which can apply to the inquiry; we should not be content to have a statement made out by the parties, we should still require to see the documents.

Have you a statement of the counties in progress?—I have; the counties are Berks, Essex, Gloucester, Hereford, Kent, Lancaster, London, Middlesex, Northampton, Nottingham, Salop, Suffolk, Sussex, Warwick, Worcester, Hertford; three of the counties not finished, Berks, Kent and Sussex, were examined under the first commission, which related only to charities for education; all the charities for education in those three counties have been examined, but no other; they cannot, perhaps, be strictly considered in progress, because we have put them aside for the present, and have directed our attention to other counties, which, for their general charities, appeared to require it; some of the counties mentioned here as not finished will be soon finished, perhaps in the course of this spring; others are about half finished; there are two or three in which only some partial inquiries have been made; those can hardly properly be considered as actually in progress, still they fall under the description of counties begun, but not finished; the greater number of those are in a state of considerable forwardness.

Have you reason to suppose that in any of those counties where, about ten years ago, you made the beginning of your inquiries, any fresh abuses have subsequently crept in?—We have no knowledge of any such case, nor any reason to form an opinion, one way or the other, upon the subject.

From the nature of the case, have you left the districts where your inquiries have been completed in a state to make it improbable that any subsequent abuse should creep in?—We have, so far as this, that we have corrected every abuse that

John W. Warren,
Esq.
18 March,

we could, as far as it went; those that we could not ourselves deal with we have reported to the attorney-general. We consider and hope that the publication of our Reports, in the detail in which they are given, will be the means of preventing future abuse, by making it known to the persons interested what the real state of the charity is, and enabling them to see whether it is properly administered or not; and with reference to the preservation of documents, we have set forth the deeds respecting the charities perhaps more at length than we should otherwise have done, for the very purpose of meeting, in some degree, a contingent evil—of deeds of endowment being lost; should that in future be the case, we conceive our Reports will be a sort of succedaneum, not a legal substitution of evidence, but still would afford such a complete and accurate knowledge of the nature of the charity as in a great measure to supply the want of the original documents.

Would it not be better, to insure their being more permanently of record, to direct their being enrolled or deposited in some public places?—I think it would, but that was tried; some years ago there was an Act requiring the enrolment of all charities, which was very inoperative; it was carried into effect in a few counties only; it would be a very good thing, but at the same time we find an immense number of charities, particularly in some counties, where the documents are lost and cannot be enrolled, and we are obliged to resort to tables of benefactions in churches, entries in parish books, inscriptions on tomb-stones, or such inferior kinds of evidence.

Did the commissioners ever make an estimate of the aggregate value of the abuses that they have brought to light?—No, those lie dispersed in all their Reports, and they have never made any collection of them: in the year 1824, when the Act appointing the commission was renewed, a return was made to the Secretary of State's Office, of the number of charities which had been then investigated, and the amount in value that they came to. I think that the number of charities was above 10,000 at that time, and the annual amount, as far as my recollection goes, 320,000*l.* a year; those are contained in the 12 first volumes of the Reports.

Does the amount of 138,850*l.* include in it the expense of printing your Reports connected with your commission?—No, it does not.

[The Statement referred to by the Witness was delivered in, and read, as follows.—Vide Paper (A.)]

4.—DEVONSHIRE.

SIR,

Exeter, 1st March, 1831.

IN reply to your Letter of the 21st ultimo, I have the honour to inform you, that in this county there is one Licensed Asylum only, now containing two female patients, which are the same as have been confined therein during the last year. The name of the proprietor is Mr. James Rich, surgeon; and it is situate in the parish of Churchstaunton in this county.

No patient has been discharged therefrom, or has died therein, during the past year.

There is an Asylum in this county, not licensed, supported entirely by voluntary contributions, which I understand contains about fifty inmates. But as this establishment is not within the provisions of the late statute, I am unable to give you any accurate information connected with it.

I have the honour to be, &amp;c.

S. M. Phillipps, Esq.
&c. &c.

R. Eales,
Clerk of the Peace for Devon.

COPY of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 15th March 1831.

MR. STEWART states to the Board that Sir Francis Burdett has acquainted him that Mr. Telford is now willing to undertake to make a Survey, and to report his opinion on the best mode of supplying the Metropolis with Pure Water. My Lords refer to the former correspondence with Sir Francis Burdett and Mr. Telford on this subject.

Write to Mr. Telford that my Lords are informed by Sir Francis Burdett that circumstances will now enable Mr. Telford to undertake a Survey, with a view to determine the best mode of supplying the Metropolis with Pure Water. My Lords therefore desire he will undertake that Survey, and make his Report accordingly.

Write to Sir Francis Burdett that in consequence of his communication to Mr. Stewart, my Lords have directed Mr. Telford to make a Survey, and report upon the best mode of supplying the Metropolis with Pure Water, and my Lords will communicate Mr. Telford's Report to Sir Francis Burdett as soon as they receive it; and desire that it may be understood by Sir Francis Burdett that my Lords have given these directions to Mr. Telford, on the stipulation that Sir Francis Burdett will secure the Public from being called upon to incur any expense in remunerating Mr. Telford for this service, as proposed by Sir Francis Burdett in his letter of the 25th January last.

COPY of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 25th March 1831.

READ letter from Mr. Telford, dated 21st instant, requesting information as to whether he is employed by Government respecting the Supply of Water to the Metropolis.

Write to Mr. Telford that my Lords consider him to be employed by Government in making the Survey and Report directed by their letter of the 17th instant.

Transmit copy of this letter, and of the answer my Lords have directed to be given to it, to Sir Francis Burdett, acquainting him that notwithstanding that Mr. Telford is employed by the direction of the Board, my Lords look to him to secure the Government from any expense in the matter, which responsibility Sir Francis Burdett has voluntarily undertaken by his letter of 25th January last, proposing himself to confer this advantage on the Public.

T. SPRING RICE.

SIR,

Great George-street, April 16, 1826.

IN consequence of the communications which I have had the honour of holding with you on the subject of the Mineralogical Survey of Scotland, in which I was engaged under the Board of Ordnance while holding the situation of chemist to that Board, I now beg leave to transmit, for the inspection of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, a map, showing the nature of the work, and the extent to which it has been carried, and at the same time to request you will state to their Lordships that I shall be ready to devote myself to the continuance and completion of this undertaking, if they shall deem it of sufficient consequence to justify the moderate annual expense which it will require for a few years.

It is unnecessary for me to point out the advantages of such a work, if properly executed, nor to insist on the importance of rendering useful and available to the Public the materials which have been already collected and prepared by the application of much time and labour at the public expense.

The work was commenced by order in 1814, and conducted without interruption for seven years, to 1820, having in 1821 been interrupted by illness; but before that I had spent three summers in Scotland, carrying on the same observations, so that three years more should be added, while perhaps the value of one year further should be reckoned, on account of a previous knowledge of the country obtained while at college. This would give eleven years of total work.

The

The proportion finished may be estimated at two thirds of the total area, excluding Shetland and Orkney; and therefore it might be computed that five years and a half, or six, should complete it, exclusively of those islands. This estimate could be fixed, did it resemble ordinary map surveying; but from the very variable nature of different districts, geologically considered, such a rule cannot be applied; a square mile in one place having sometimes occupied as much time as a hundred in another. Independently of this, as it is impossible to see the nature of the rocks in wet weather, a very bad summer might materially reduce the labours of a season; while, if extreme geographical accuracy were required, there might remain many corrections to be made at the end of the work. Thus, what might, under favourable circumstances, be finished in five years, might also require even two or three more, particularly if Orkney and Shetland are to be included.

The irregular manner in which this survey has been carried on must be my apology for not being able to state the entire past expenses, as a large portion of them was paid by myself; but of the total time stated, eleven years, the Ordnance paid during six only, and even then partially; so that in giving up the whole map, as far as it is executed, to the Public, I may consider at least half the work as having been performed without any expense to the Government.

As chemist to the Ordnance my salary was 566*l.* per annum, with an assistant at 65*l.* and stationery. The survey became subsequently included in this duty, because the engineer officer on the trigonometrical survey did not understand this subject; and the same addition as was made to the principal surveyor, namely, 300*l.* per annum, was promised to me for this extra service, but ultimately not granted. The actual allowance was 2*s.* a mile for all distances, however travelled, together with 1*l.* a day for personal expenses, and a bill for contingences; instruments, maps, and extra stationery, being also granted on demand. The actual expense, of course, varied with the length and activity of the season, which, from the delays naturally arising in such an office as mine, at the commencement of each, was often very much confined, as was the work in consequence.

Having stated thus much, I have only to add, I shall be ready to proceed immediately to Scotland for the prosecution of this work, if the Lords of the Treasury should be pleased to authorize and direct me so to do.

I have the honour to be, &c. &c.

J. C. Herries, esq.

(signed)

J. M'Culloch.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 4th July 1826.

READ letter from Dr. M'Culloch, dated 16th April last, stating the nature and extent of his services under the Board of Ordnance, in making a Mineralogical Survey of Scotland, and inclosing a map of the work in question.

It appears that Dr. M'Culloch being in the service of the Board of Ordnance as professor of chemistry, was first in the year 1814 employed by that department in the scientific and laborious survey to which his memorial relates, and that he has at different periods been occupied during eleven seasons in the prosecution of the work; having in that time completed about two thirds of the undertaking, and prepared the materials of a complete mineralogical map of Scotland to that extent.

It appears also that the Board of Ordnance having considerably reduced the establishments of that department, and among others having abolished the office of professor of chemistry, this important work can no longer be carried on under the authority of that Board; and that unless the means be afforded to Dr. M'Culloch from some other source for the prosecution of the survey, the work must remain incomplete, and the benefit which might be derived to the Public from the researches already made, with much learning, skill and labour, will be nearly if not wholly lost to the Public.

It is stated by Dr. M'Culloch that there is every reason to expect that in five years more, if the seasons are not peculiarly unfavourable to the survey, the whole work may be completed.

My Lords are of opinion that the Board of Ordnance judged rightly in directing this survey to be undertaken by a person so eminently qualified by mineralogical knowledge for the execution of it as Dr. M'Culloch; and as they conceive that a complete Mineralogical Map of Scotland must prove, not only highly interesting in a scientific point of view, but of considerable practical utility to many branches of industry connected with the mineral kingdom, they desire that Dr. M'Culloch may be informed that, in order to enable him to continue the work and to complete it as expeditiously as possible, they are disposed to recommend to His Majesty to make such allowance to him for that purpose out of the Civil List Revenue of Scotland as may be equivalent to the allowances for travelling, personal, and other expenses made to him by the Board of Ordnance, together with a remuneration of 2 l. a day for his labour, while actually engaged in the survey, which my Lords understand cannot be carried on during more than six months in the year, even in the most favourable season.

As it appears also that the work may be considerably abridged, and the conclusion of it accelerated by the aid of an assistant, my Lords will be prepared to sanction the further issue of a sum not exceeding 90 l. to Dr. M'Culloch for that purpose, at the end of each season of survey, on his certificate that he has actually disbursed such sum for such assistance.

Write to Dr. M'Culloch accordingly, and acquaint him that my Lords will give authority and directions to the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland to pay him for this service, if he is willing to undertake it, at the rate above mentioned, upon his application to them at the close of each quarter of a year in which he may have prosecuted the survey, certifying what time he has been employed in it, and what expenses, within the above limits, he may have incurred.

Sir,

Great George-street, July 10, 1826.

IN reply to your letter of the present date, signifying the resolutions of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury relating to the survey of Scotland, I have the honour to state that I shall obey their orders by immediately proceeding to Scotland for the purpose of continuing that work.

I have only to add, that the rates of allowance and the charges under the Ordnance were regulated in the following manner ;

One pound per diem for personal expenses while from Woolwich.

Two shillings per mile during the same time : the miles being stated as direct distances when proceeding to any object, and being stated as per diem when engaged in the examination of a district.

The contingent bill for incidental expenses stated certain sums incurred for guides, boats, labour, tools, carriage, &c. and ranged below 40 l.

The stationery, including such extra articles as maps, drawing paper, colours, instruments, &c. was either demanded and issued from the stationery office, or purchased by myself, and paid by a bill of charges.

J. C. Herries, esq.
&c. &c. &c.

I have, &c.
(signed) J. M'Culloch.

TREASURY MINUTE, dated 13th July 1826.

READ Letter from Dr. M'Culloch, dated the 10th instant, stating his intention to proceed immediately to Scotland for the purpose of continuing the survey of that country, and stating the manner in which the rates of allowance and charges under the Ordnance were regulated.

Acquaint Dr. M'Culloch that my Lords will either direct the stationery office to supply, or authorize him to purchase, such supplies of stationery, &c. as he may from time to time require, upon receiving his requisitions for that purpose.

My Lords,

Treasury Chambers, 14th March 1827.

I AM directed by the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury to transmit to your Lordships a copy of a Minute of this Board, dated 4th July 1826, upon the subject of the terms upon which my Lords will employ Dr. M'Culloch to complete his Mineralogical Survey of Scotland, and to desire that your Lordships will examine the accounts which may be submitted by Dr. M'Culloch, upon the principles laid down in that Minute, and submit to my Lords a warrant for paying such sums as may be due to him,

The Barons of the Exchequer,
&c. &c. Scotland,

I am, &c.
(signed) W. Hill.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

May it please your Lordships,

WE received Mr. Hill's letter of date the 14th March last, transmitting us a copy of a Minute of your Lordships of date the 4th July 1826, on the subject of the terms upon which your Lordships were to employ Dr. John M'Culloch to complete the mineralogical survey of Scotland; and desiring that we would examine the accounts which may be submitted by Dr. M'Culloch, upon the principles laid down in that minute, and we now beg to acquaint your Lordships that Dr. M'Culloch having given in the accounts to us for performing the said survey in the season 1826, we referred them to the proper officers for examination, who have certified to us that the expense amounts to the sum of 959*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.* And we have, agreeably to your Lordships directions, prepared a warrant for His Majesty's royal signature, for paying the said sum to Dr. John M'Culloch, and herewith transmit the same accordingly.

Treasury Chambers, Edinburgh, } (signed) We have, &c.
19 Dec. 1827. } S. Shepherd, P. Murray,
J. Clerk Rattray, D. Hume.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 28th December 1827.

READ Report from the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland, dated 19th December 1827, on the subject of Dr. John M'Culloch completing the mineralogical survey of Scotland; wherein they state that Dr. M'Culloch having given in the accounts to them for performing the said survey in the season 1826, they referred them to the proper officers for examination, who have certified that the expense amounts to the sum of 959*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*; and further add, that they have prepared a warrant for His Majesty's signature for paying the said sum to Dr. John M'Culloch, and which they therewith transmit.

Let the said warrant be prepared and submitted for His Majesty's signature.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

May it please your Lordships,

WE beg to transmit for your Lordships consideration and directions the accounts of charges made by Dr. M'Culloch for making the mineralogical survey of Scotland in the year 1827, in terms of the Minute of your Lordships of date 4th July 1826, and transmitted to us by Mr. Hill, in his letter, of date 14th March 1827.

These accounts consist of,

	£.	s.	d.
1. Account of miles travelled on the Survey, from Dr. M'Culloch's leaving London until his return to it again, being in all 7,743 miles, at 2 s. per mile, is	774	6	-
2. Account for maps, instruments, &c. required for conducting the Survey in addition to those purchased last year	43	10	6
3. Account for stationery, amounting to	11	14	-
4. Contingent bill for extra expenses by the Doctor, and his assistant, on the Survey, consisting of hire of boats and guides, amounting to	39	18	-
5. Bill for assistant; the full amount allowed by the Treasury Minute being	90	-	-
6. Bill for remuneration to the Doctor, and his personal travelling expenses, viz. 184 days, being, as the Doctor states, "the content of six summer months," at 2 l. per day	£.368	-	-
184 days personal travelling expenses at 1 l. per day,	184	-	-
	552	-	-
In all, connected with the Survey	£.	1,511	8 6

7. In addition to the above, the Doctor states " that he has been desired " to make the following items, on the ground of its having been " the intention of their Lordships, H. M. Commissioners of the " Treasury, that there should be no deduction from that, which " consists, with a small exception, of money expended and to be " reimbursed; viz.	£. s. d.
Fees paid at the Exchequer of Scotland - - - £. 15 10 6
Fees paid at the Treasury on the warrant for the bills 1826 - - - - - 6 7 6 21 18 -
Total Sum claimed by Dr. M'Culloch - - - £.	1,533 6 6

Exceeding in amount the charges of the former year by the sum of 573*l.* 8*s.*

These different accounts have been examined by our officers, but we have no opportunity of judging of the accuracy of many of the items, and particularly of the number of miles, stated to be 7,743, travelled for the purpose of the survey.

It occurs to us that some method should be adopted for securing to the Public the various instruments, &c. purchased by Dr. M'Culloch for the purpose of this survey, the expense of which in the previous year amounted to 31*l.* 19*s.*, and which this year amounts to 43*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.*

We presume that Dr. M'Culloch makes a regular report annually to the Board of Ordnance or to your Lordships of the progress of his work, and that some mode has been adopted for securing to the Public the result of his labours, as the survey proceeds.

Should your Lordships be pleased to approve of the several accounts of charges herein inclosed we shall order the proper warrant to be prepared and transmitted to your Lordships for signature for the payment thereof.

We have the honour to be, &c. &c.

Sir,

London, February 27, 1828.

I HAVE the honour of transmitting to you my bills relating to the mineralogical survey of Scotland in 1827, requesting that you will have the goodness to lay them before the Barons of H. M. Exchequer, the said bills being incurred in pursuance to an order of their Lordships H. M. Commissioners of the Treasury, dated July 10th, 1826. I have only to remark, that the order has been strictly obeyed on this occasion, by applying the six months to the work, as therein specified; a proceeding which was impeded in 1826 by the partial loss of the summer, in consequence of its late date. In all else they are conformable to those of 1826.

I have the honour to be, &c. &c. &c.

WITH respect to assistance, the disbursement has very far exceeded the allowance which I originally suggested; as the peculiar nature of the country required, for some time, an additional help, at wages equivalent to my own allowance, consuming a large part of that; but as I am aware that I do this on my own responsibility, I can only certify in the following form :

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 10th June 1828.

READ letter from the Barons of the Exchequer, Scotland, dated 31st ult. transmitting Dr. M'Culloch's bills of expenses, &c. incurred in the mineralogical survey of Scotland in 1827.

My Lords suspend giving any directions upon this subject until they have obtained an opinion of the Board of Ordnance upon the points connected with that Department.

Transmit the same to the Master-General and Board of Ordnance accordingly.

Sir,

Office of Ordnance, 4th July 1828.

WITH reference to your letter dated 17th ultimo, transmitting by desire of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury a letter from the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland, inclosing Dr. M'Culloch's bill of expenses, &c. on account of the mineralogical survey in that part of Great Britain, in the year 1827, amounting together to 1,533*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* and signifying that their Lordships will suspend directions upon this subject until the opinion of the Ordnance be obtained upon the points connected with that Department;

I have the honour to acquaint you, in reply, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, that this office has not the means of ascertaining whether the items of this claim are according to any agreement with the Treasury; but the rate now charged of 2*s.* a mile, is the same as was formerly allowed to the doctor by the Ordnance for distances travelled by land; but for distances by water, the actual charge only for conveyance or passage is allowed by the Department. It is not shown however in the bill whether any of the distances given were passed on the water; and in regard to the distances themselves, the accuracy of many of them cannot be ascertained by the Ordnance any more than by the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland; for the items, Nos. 2 and 3, of the claim, being 43*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* for maps, instruments, &c. and 11*l.* 14*s.* for stationery, the Ordnance would have required regular bills and receipts. I am further directed to state that, had the service in question been conducted under the direction and at the expense of the Ordnance, the Board should have felt it their duty to recommend some method for securing to the Public both the result of the Doctor's labours, and also the instruments and other things purchased in the progress of the survey, points which seem to the Board to be very properly adverted to by the Scotch Barons.

I have the honour to be, &c. &c.

(signed)

R. Byham.

P. S.—I beg to return the inclosures which accompanied your letter.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 11th July 1828.

READ letter from the Secretary to the Ordnance, submitting a letter from the Barons of the Exchequer, N. B., enclosing Dr. M'Culloch's bill of expenses, &c. on account of the mineralogical survey in that part of Great Britain in 1827, amounting to 1,533*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*, and stating, that that office has not the means of ascertaining whether the items of that claim are according to any agreement with the Treasury; and it is not shown in the bill whether any of the distances given were passed on the water; and in regard to the distances themselves, the accuracy of many of them cannot be ascertained by the Ordnance, any more than by the Barons of Exchequer in Scotland.

Transmit copy to the Barons of Exchequer in Scotland, and request they will inform my Lords whether there are any observations contained therein which may induce them to make any alteration in their Report of the 31st May last upon this subject.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

13th May 1828. Please your Lordships,

WE have received Mr. Stewart's letter of date 16th July, in which he informs us that having laid before your Lordships our report of 31st May last, transmitting Dr. M'Culloch's bills relative to the mineralogical survey of Scotland in 1827, he is directed by your Lordships to transmit to us a copy of a letter from the Board of Ordnance, of the 4th July upon the subject, and to request that we will inform you whether there are any observations contained therein which may induce us to make any alteration on our report above referred to, and we beg leave to inform your Lordships,

That, having considered the said letter from the Board of Ordnance we do not consider that there are any observations contained in it that induce us to make any alteration on our Report of the 31st May last, and to which we beg to refer.

We have, &c.

Pat. Murray.

31st July 1828.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 15th August 1828.

READ Report of the Barons of Exchequer, Scotland, dated 31st ultimo, on the letter of this Board of the 16th ultimo, with one from the Ordnance on the subject of Dr. M'Culloch's bills relative to the mineralogical survey of Scotland in 1827; wherein they state that there are no observations contained in the letter of the Board of Ordnance; which induced them to make any alteration in their report of the 31st May last.

Write to Dr. M'Culloch, desiring that he will inform my Lords whether the number of miles charged by him, at the rate of 2s. per mile, in the account of his expenses on his mineralogical survey in the year 1827, were all travelled by land; and if not, that he will transmit an amended account of those expenses, charging 2s. for each mile travelled by land, and the actual expense incurred for water conveyance.

Write to Mr. Byham requesting to be informed whether Dr. M'Culloch, when employed by the Master-General and Board of Ordnance, was required to make periodical or other reports of his proceedings, and if so, to what period his reports have been made, and whether any arrangements were made by the Master-General and Board, to secure the result of Dr. M'Culloch's labours when he was employed under their direction, and at the expense of the Ordnance department, and what arrangement the Master-General and Board would recommend my lords to adopt for securing to the public the full benefit of this survey, when it shall have been completed.

Sir,

11, St. James's Square, December 30, 1828.

YOUR letter, commanding an explanation of my accounts by the order of the Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, only reached me lately on my return from the survey; and a severe fever, the consequence of fatigue incurred in it, has prevented me hitherto from replying; which I trust will be pardoned.

While under the Ordnance, which I have made my rule, as ordered, I never made any charges for this survey when I travelled in ships, and as very much of the early ones were nautical, my expenditure from my own means were very considerable; the mere line of coast, amounting, as far as my memory serves, to 6,000 miles, and the navigation to four times as much at least; whence the comparatively small charges for the land journeys in those periods. I was not informed that there was any other expedient or allowance, as would now appear, and as I did not think it right to charge these in the usual manner, there was no charge at all.

In the bills now under review it will be perceived accordingly, that the only ship journey has an O, zero, against it; it occurs near the end of the list. Hereafter I will make the distinction more apparent by adopting a different column for such.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

J. McCulloch

I beg you to excuse incorrectness as I am very ill able to write.

J. Stewart, Esq. &c. &c. &c.

Office of Ordnance, 20th January 1829.

Sir, I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday, desiring an answer to the letter of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, dated the 21st August last, relative to Dr. M'Culloch's accounts of expenses incurred in making a mineralogical survey of Scotland; and I am directed to request you will explain to their Lordships, that the reply to the said communication has been delayed until some information upon the subject should be received from Dr. M'Culloch. This information, I am to observe, was applied for on the 22d September last, and repeated on the 18th December, but without effect; and, as some further delay may take place, the Board beg to submit to their Lordships the following narrative, which will show the circumstances under which Dr. M'Culloch was employed to make this survey, as well as the best history, of which the Board are in possession, regarding the Doctor's proceedings on the occasion, from 1814 to the present time.

Many circumstances having occurred in the prosecution of the trigonometrical survey, which were supposed to have detracted from the accuracy of the observations, and to have been caused either by the attraction of the high lands and mountains on the plumb-line of the zenith sector, or by the inequality of the density of matter more remote from the surface of the earth; and the results of the survey not exactly coinciding with the measurements performed by the French academicians, the Master-General deemed it expedient to institute a minute geological and mineralogical observation on the nature of the ground in the north of England, and more particularly in Scotland. His Lordship therefore, on the 30th May 1814, appointed Dr. M'Culloch to the duty, with an allowance of 20s. per day personal expenses, and 2s. per mile chaise-hire.

By orders of 26th May 1815 and 16th May 1816, Dr. M'Culloch also joined the survey for those years.

On the 15th June 1816 his report was called for, through Colonel Mudge, the superintendent of the survey, from whose answer it appears that, on the Doctor's return from Scotland in the autumn of 1815, he (the Colonel) called upon him, and saw many hundred mineralogical and geological specimens collected in that country, and also his mineralogical maps, particularly of the western part of Scotland, with the strata properly laid down therein. An attentive consideration of these particulars, assisted by Dr. M'Culloch's papers, apparently regularly kept from the commencement of his employ, sufficiently showed that he had very ably discharged his duty, and this necessarily comprised the only report that could be made. The Board, therefore, at that time dispensed with the production of the plans and papers, not wishing to cause the Doctor, who had returned to Scotland with the maps, to lose time or suffer inconvenience.

On the 22d April 1817 Dr. M'Culloch was again ordered on the survey, and on the 15th May Colonel Mudge received directions to prepare and transmit a detailed narrative of the Doctor's services, and of the use and advantage which had been, or might be, derived from his attendance and assistance in the undertaking. In Colonel Mudge's answers of 19th May and 5th June 1817, he states that the irregularity of the earth's density having more or less affected every operation for determining its diameters, and in one instance drawn the plumb-line aside eight seconds, so as to subtend 800 feet of surface, it proved that lateral attraction was always to be suspected; in order therefore to bring this unequal density under view and calculation, the employ of an able geologist was essentially requisite, his duty being to examine the surface and interior of the earth, observe quarries, descend into mines, and be extremely particular in his mineralogical inquiries, for all which there could not be found a man better qualified than Dr. M'Culloch.

This explanation the Board felt satisfied with, and they informed Colonel Mudge that, that, upon his certificate that the Doctor had delivered his observations to him, and afforded such information as he might require, the allowances fixed on the 30th May 1814 would continue to be paid. On the 21st March 1818, the foregoing order was explained to Colonel Mudge, as not intended to make him responsible for Dr. M'Culloch's journeys, but merely to testify that the doctor had attended the survey, and performed all the services required of him in his capacity of geologist. On the 22d May 1818, the Doctor was again ordered on the survey.

On the 19th April 1819, Colonel Mudge, on being asked whether Dr. M'Culloch would be wanted during that year, proposed his employment on the east of Scotland. The Master-General (the Duke of Wellington) then inquired what the expense would be; Colonel Mudge considered 400*l.* for the year, and the Board suggested that the doctor should be employed. The Master-General consented; but having been informed that Dr. M'Culloch could and ought to complete his survey in one season, and considering the expense of former years, 423*l.* in 1816, and 414*l.* in 1817, his Grace limited the entire future expenditure to the sum of 500*l.*, and desired to know if Dr. M'Culloch would complete the survey on those terms.

Dr. M'Culloch assented; remarking, however, that it would require a very favourable concurrence of circumstances to finish his labours in one summer. This being represented to the Duke, his Grace was pleased to answer that, if such was the case, it had better be begun, so that the doctor might have two summers to work in.

On the 20th November 1819, Dr. M'Culloch reported his return from the north, observing, that some weeks would be necessary to make the report in detail, when he would transmit it, and note certain deficiencies which yet remained. He also forwarded a catalogue of 249 mountains which he had examined, and an abstract of the mineralogical survey and map, comprising the most difficult half of Scotland, amounting to about 15,000 square miles; and, after stating that he should place the whole at the Master-General's and Board's disposal, he expressed a hope that it might not be left thus imperfect. These papers were laid before the Master-General, but it does not appear that his Grace gave any orders thereon.

On the 10th February 1820, the Surveyor-General reported that Dr. M'Culloch's expenses for 1818 came to about 546*l.*; those for 1819 to 477*l.* or 458*l.* for travelling only. The Board, therefore, requested to receive the Master-General's commands in reference to the limited sum of 500*l.*, and on the question of continuing the geological survey. The Duke adhered to the restricted sum, and directed that if the survey could not be completed for the remainder of it, it was not to be undertaken.

On the 26th May Dr. M'Culloch expressed his readiness to proceed according to the terms stated; and, on the 18th February 1821, requested payment of the residue. He was desired to produce his travelling-bill, and to transmit a report of the state in which the survey remained. On the 27th February he replied that he had been left by the late Colonel Mudge to his own discretion; he then detailed how he had employed himself; and concluded by stating that the work was incomplete, but that he was ready to draw up the best report which the time and circumstances permitted him to make, though he wished to know, as a guide, what plan of publication of the trigonometrical part of the survey was to be adopted.

As the materials of his bill, he gave the distances travelled and the time occupied; and subsequently added, that though on his own charges, he was out longer and travelled farther than formerly, which he trusted would prove that he had looked to public economy, and a proper execution of duty. The Board then gave him the balance of 42*l.*, and Captain Colby, who had succeeded Colonel Mudge, was called upon relative to receiving the Doctor's detailed Report. In his (Captain Colby's) letter of the 9th April 1821, he sets forth that the Doctor must be aware, that the mode of publishing the trigonometrical part of the survey would be similar to what was already published; that as to what would be required from him, it appeared his labours had been to examine mountains, in order to discover a fit place for experiments on attraction, and to examine the stations where it was probable the plumb-line would deviate; that he (the Doctor) never considered the formation of the general geological map of Scotland as having any reference to his duties on the survey, nor did Captain Colby believe that Colonel Mudge had given him any orders upon it.

On the Doctor's representation that he was ready to give a detailed report of the examination of the mountains whenever the problem of the earth's density shall be resumed, Captain Colby remarks, that it will of course not be resumed till the fit place place is discovered, and that, if the Doctor delays his report till its resumption, four years labour will have been thrown away: that the report on the stations where the plumb-line might deviate ought not to be delayed. And that the authors of the trigonometrical survey could not prescribe the forms for Dr. M'Culloch's reports, unless they also had made a geological examination of the country.

The Board, therefore, by their order of the 11th April 1821, required Dr. M'Culloch to transmit his detailed reports as soon as practicable. He answered that he would lose no time, but that he wanted maps and a hydrostatic balance, to take specific gravities, a principal basis of his report; that he had taken many hundreds, but that they were all incorrect, from being taken with an inaccurate balance, his application for a good one having, some years previously, been refused.

On the 12th May 1821 he sent his Geological Report on the Meridians in Scotland, which he regretted was not far more complete, but that the observations had been hurried by the late Colonel Mudge; that "to prove however, that he never was guided by any mercenary motive in wishing the continuance of the survey," he would, if the Board pleased, finish the work "at his own expense."

While this was under consideration, the Doctor, on the 2d June, transmitted a computation of the probable sale and expense of publishing a mineralogical map of Scotland, supposing such a work was completed, which, taking it at the lowest, he stated would stand thus:

Expense of 1,000 copies	£.
Sale of ditto, at 6l. 6s. each	1,500
	6,600
Leaving a clear sum of	5,100

applicable to the expense which might be incurred in completing the survey, and to the account of profit. That, if these expectations should not be quite fulfilled, the sale of the work would do more than cover all its own expenses, and the Ordnance would be able to present to the Public a map of high value, towards the general improvement of the resources of the empire.

The Board postponed deciding on this suggestion till the Doctor should exhibit the rough maps and drawings; but on the 27th July 1821 they informed him that they acquiesced in his offer to finish the geological survey at his own expense. Dr. M'Culloch then wrote a private note to the Secretary (Mr. Crew) representing that this would oblige him to re-model his Report in every point, and requesting, therefore, to have the Report returned to him, with its accompanying drawings, which he stated should be restored with his new Report. The Report was given up to him on the 4th August 1821, "in order that he might perfect it and return it to the Board when he should have finished the survey." No further communication from Dr. M'Culloch on the subject has however since been received.

On the 13th January 1826, Dr. M'Culloch's appointment of Ordnance chemist and assayer of metals ceased; and the Master-General and Board informed him that he would then be able to transfer his individual attention and services to the geological survey under the Treasury.

Major Colby's opinion, as given in his letter of the 10th instant, is, that a detailed account of the strata in and near the lines of the meridian, passing from Black Down, in Dorsetshire, to Balta Island, in Zetland, is still due from Dr. M'Culloch to the Ordnance, as well as some account of the stratification and probable density of a few among the most eligible of the long list of mountains which he reported he had examined, for the repetition of the experiment to ascertain the density of the earth.

To the foregoing the Board beg leave to recommend to the Lords of the Treasury, by way of securing to the Public the full benefit of the geological survey, when completed, that no further payment to be made to Dr. M'Culloch, on account of travelling or other expenses, until his engagements to Government have been fully and satisfactorily completed.

I have the honour, &c.,

(signed) R. Byham.

Sir,

Office of Ordnance, 26th January 1829.

THE Board having received a letter from Dr. M'Culloch, stating, in answer to their renewed application to him for his Report on the Geological and Mineralogical Survey of Scotland, that he has been for some weeks past so extremely ill as to be quite unable to attend to business, and soliciting therefore that he may be indulged with a little more time.

I am commanded to signify the same to you for the information of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, in addition to my communication of the 20th instant.

I have, &amp;c.

The Honourable J. Stewart.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 30th January 1829.

READ Letter from the Secretary to the Ordnance, dated 20th instant, relative to Dr. M'Culloch's accounts of expenses incurred in making a mineralogical survey of Scotland.

Read Letter from the Secretary to the Ordnance, dated 26th instant, stating that Dr. M'Culloch had requested, in consequence of illness, to be allowed further time to make his Report in the mineralogical survey of Scotland.

Transmit copies of these letters to the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland, and acquaint them that my Lords will suspend any further payments to Dr. M'Culloch, until he shall have transmitted to the Board of Ordnance all the information which they are entitled to receive from him, and my Lords request that the Barons of the Exchequer will acquaint Dr. M'Culloch accordingly; and express their desire that no time may be lost in furnishing the information, that the Public may derive the benefit to which they are entitled, in consideration of the public expense which has been incurred by the employment of Dr. M'Culloch.

Acquaint Mr. Byham, for the information of the Master-General and Board of Ordnance, with these directions.

Sir,

11, St. James's-square, March 21, 1829.

MY long continued illness, already reported to you, will, I hope, form my apology to His Majesty's Lords Commissioners of the Treasury for not having sooner reported to the Ordnance, as commanded by their letter of the 22d September 1828.

I have sent the Report demanded by them, according to my promise, as accepted by them, by letter of 27th July 1821, granting me permission to finish the survey "of the meridian line in Scotland at my own expense." If there has been an error on my part in not having before sent to them what was completed long ago, it is that I believed, when my office under the Ordnance was abolished, that I was fully and completely transferred, myself, my papers, and my knowledge, to the Treasury, and that my future duty was to obey their commands, and if my error in this respect has been attended with any inconvenience to the public service, I shall much regret it; but I have been always ready to transmit the report on the meridian line in Scotland, completed at my own expense, to the Ordnance, had they called for it.

Having also now transmitted to them a second and an absolutely completed, report on the mountains for the purpose of ascertaining the earth's density, this being the only other service on which I was used by them as a geological surveyor, there is nothing of any nature on this subject remaining uncompleted or imperfect.

I trust, Sir, that I may now venture to represent the very great loss and inconvenience that I sustain by the delay in paying the amount of the expenses, of which almost four fifths consist in disbursements; and I hope that my Lords will direct, without delay, the payment of the sum due for 1827, that I may be enabled to proceed with the work as it ought to be done, and at as early a period (at least the middle or end of April) as is required for the saving of time in the entire operation.

It is perhaps proper that I should state here, that the service on which I am now employed is perfectly distinct from those which I was directed to perform by the Ordnance. The present service is to survey mineralogically, with statistical views, the whole of Scotland. Those under the Ordnance were, first, to survey a given portion or belt under the meridian of Balta, Portsoy, and Kelly Law, from Shetland to the Border; and, secondly, to select a mountain or mountains for the purpose of making experiments on the density of the earth. It is true, that while engaged in these surveys, and on a prior one respecting limestones, I took advantage of the opportunities of being on the spot thus afforded me to make further mineralogical observations for the furtherance of science, and with a view to eventual utility to the country from this species of knowledge. But it is equally true that I have never charged, and never received a shilling for any expenses but those bestowed on the services for which I was specifically employed; and that all expenses of travelling, except those which consisted in seeking limestones, in proceeding from mountain to mountain, and in examining them, and in the investigation of the meridian belt, (as far as this last was done at the public expense) were defrayed by myself, while in the last-mentioned service, the additions made at my own expense amount to upwards of 2,000 square miles.

It was to complete a mineralogical and statistical survey, based on the investigations just alluded to, that I was engaged by the Treasury in 1826; and the only payment yet made by the Public on account of this survey has been that which I have received from the Treasury for the year 1826.

If it shall be their Lordships' pleasure to command a report of my proceedings at the termination of each season hereafter, I shall of course be ready to obey their commands, and also, if required, to transmit a statement of what I have done since 1826.

And I shall now transmit as soon as possible my accounts for 1828 to His Majesty's Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland.

I have, &c.

The Hon. J. Stewart, &c. &c.
Treasury.

J. M'Culloch.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 27th March 1829.

READ Letter from Dr. M'Culloch, dated 21st instant, further on the subject of the payment of his account for a mineralogical survey in Scotland in 1827.

Transmit copy of this letter to the Secretary of the Ordnance, and request that he will move the Master-General and Board to inform my Lords whether, under the circumstances stated by Dr. M'Culloch, there is now any objection on their part to his being paid for the services he has performed under the direction of this Board.

Sir,

11, St. James's-square, April 24, 1829.

IN obedience to the understanding I had with His Majesty's Commissioners of the Treasury, I was to employ all the time, and use all the expedition I could, in completing the mineralogical survey of Scotland, and I ought therefore to have commenced some time ago, which, under the present circumstances, I have been unable to do; may I request you therefore to submit to my Lords my representation, that they will please to issue an order as soon as possible for the payment of the bills in arrear for 1827, since there will still remain those for 1828; should their Lordships discover any reason for detaining that longer, though I am utterly unable to conjecture in what it can arise, when I have minutely answered the objections made by the Ordnance, proving that I had completed, not only the services on which I was regularly employed, but also what I was understood to have volunteered, while neither of these bore any reference to the present service. Their Lordships cannot but be aware, Sir, that independently of my own serious loss and inconvenience from this cause, it may prevent the public service, which they have commanded from me, from being duly executed, while it may also subject me hereafter to reprimands for not doing what it may be put out of my power to execute in the manner that would fully satisfy myself, feeling that my honour and reputation are pledged to the whole Public, in it, quite as fairly as to His Majesty's Government.

I have, &c.

The Hon. J. Stewart, &c. &c.
His Majesty's Treasury.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 28th April 1829.

READ letter from Dr. M'Culloch, dated 24th instant, requesting payment of his bills for expenses incurred in the mineralogical survey of Scotland.

Transmit copy of this letter to the Secretary of the Ordnance, and request that he will move the Master-General and Board to favour my Lords, at their earliest convenience, with an answer to the letter addressed to them, by their Lordships desire, on the 28th ult., on the subject of Dr. M'Culloch's claim to payment.

Sir,

Office of Ordnance 28th April 1829.

I HAVE had the honour to receive and submit to the Board of Ordnance your letter dated the 28th instant, transmitting a further application from Dr. M'Culloch, respecting payment of his bill for expenses incurred in the mineralogical survey of Scotland in 1827, and desiring to receive their answer to your former letter on that subject, dated the 28th ult.

And I am commanded now to acquaint you, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, that the Board have investigated Dr. M'Culloch's case, and that having ascertained that he has fulfilled his engagements with this Department, they are not aware of any objection to his being paid for the services he has performed under the directions of their Lordships.

I have, &c.

The Hon. J. Stewart, (signed) R. Byham.
&c. &c.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 1st May 1829.

MY Lords read the letter of the 28th April 1829 from the Secretary of the Ordnance, stating that that Board have investigated Dr. M'Culloch's case, and that having ascertained that he has fulfilled his engagements with that Department, they are not aware of any objection to his being paid for the services which he has performed under the directions of their Lordships.

My Lords resume the consideration of all the former papers upon this subject, and their Minutes thereupon, and refer particularly to the Report of the Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland of 31st May 1828, upon Dr. M'Culloch's bills for prosecuting the mineralogical survey of Scotland in the year 1827.

It appears to my Lords to be proper, now that the amount thereof, 1,533*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*, which includes the personal remuneration granted to Dr. M'Culloch, at the rate of 2*l.* per diem for the six months during which he was occupied in 1827, should be issued to Dr. M'Culloch; and they therefore desire that a warrant may be submitted for the Royal Sign Manual, authorizing and directing the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland to direct the payment of that sum accordingly to Dr. M'Culloch out of His Majesty's hereditary Revenues in Scotland.

My Lords desire that Dr. M'Culloch may be informed of the directions thus given, and that he may be informed at the same time that it will be satisfactory to their Lordships to receive from him, at the close of each season, a report of the progress which he has made in the survey upon which he is engaged, together with a statement of the time which will probably be occupied in bringing this scientific and laborious work to a satisfactory conclusion.

Transmit copy of this Minute to the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland for their information.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

May it please your Lordships,

WE received Mr. Hoblyn's letter of the 1st instant, transmitting to us a copy of a Minute of your Lordships of same date, in which it is stated, that as it appears by a letter of 28th April from the Secretary of the Ordnance, that Dr. M'Culloch has fulfilled his engagements with that Department regarding the mineralogical survey of Scotland, your Lordships are of opinion that the accounts incurred on such survey in 1827 referred to in our report of 31st May 1828, and amounting to 1,533 l. 6 s. 6 d., should now be paid; and your Lordships therefore direct a warrant to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual, authorizing us to pay the same accordingly out of the hereditary revenue of Scotland. And you further desire that Dr. M'Culloch may be informed of the directions thus given, and at the same time acquainted that it will be satisfactory to your Lordships to receive from time to time, at the close of each season, a return of the progress which he has made in the survey, together with a statement of the time which will probably be occupied in bringing this scientific and laborious work to a satisfactory conclusion. And we beg to inform your Lordships,

That we have prepared a warrant for His Majesty's signature, for paying the said sum to Dr. M'Culloch, and herewith transmit the same accordingly. We have also transmitted to Dr. M'Culloch, for his information, a copy of your Lordships minute above referred to. And

We have the honour to be, &c. &c.

15th May 1829.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

May it please your Lordships,

WITH reference to Mr. Hill's letter of 14th March 1827, transmitting to us, by your Lordships directions, a copy of your Minute of 4th July 1826, on the subject of the terms upon which your Lordships have agreed to employ Dr. John M'Culloch to complete his mineralogical survey of Scotland, and desiring that we would examine the accounts which may be submitted by Dr. M'Culloch upon the principles laid down in that minute, we have now to inform your Lordships that Dr. M'Culloch has presented to us his bills for the year 1828, and which are as follow:

1. An Account of miles travelled on the survey, from Dr. M'Culloch's leaving London until his return to it again, being in all 8,713 miles at 2 s. per mile, is	£.	s.	d.
2. Bill for maps, &c. required in conducting the survey	871	6	-
3. Contingent bill for extra expenses by the Doctor and his assistant on the survey, consisting of hire of boats and guides, amounting to the sum of	23	2	-
4. Bill for postages incurred on account of the mineralogical survey in 1826, 1827 and 1828, amounting to	39	10	6
5. Account for stationery, amounting to	3	15	1½
6. Bill for remuneration to the Doctor, and personal travelling expenses; viz.	11	9	6
184 days employed, at 2 l. per diem remuneration	£. 368	-	-
184 days personal travelling expenses, at 1 l. per day	184	-	-
	552	-	-
7. Bill for assistant, being the full amount allowed by Treasury Minute	90	-	-
Total sum claimed by Dr. M'Culloch	£. 1,591	3	1½

These bills exceed in amount the charges for the survey in summer 1826, in the sum of 631 l. 4 s. 7½ d.; and that in 1827, in the sum of 57 l. 16 s. 7½ d..

We referred these accounts to the auditor for his examination; and we now send, along with the accounts, a copy of his report for your Lordships information.

Should your Lordships be pleased to approve of these accounts, we shall order the proper warrant for paying them to be transmitted to you for the signature of His Majesty.

We have the honour to be, &c. &c.

Treasury Chambers, Edinburgh,
2d June 1829.

Unto the Right Honourable the Lord Chief Baron and Barons of His Majesty's Court of Exchequer in Scotland,

The Report of the Auditor of Exchequer, on the Accounts of Dr. John M'Culloch, for his trouble and expenses in making a Mineralogical Survey of Scotland in the year 1828.

IN obedience to your Lordships order of the 12th May 1829, the auditor begs leave to report to your Lordships, that Dr. M'Culloch's accounts are submitted by him to your Lordships, in terms of a Treasury Minute of date the 4th July 1826, a copy of which was transmitted to your Lordships by Mr. Hill, of the Treasury, on 14th March 1827.

The accounts now rendered by Dr. M'Culloch are for his expenses and allowances in prosecution of the survey in the summer of 1828, and consist of

1. An Account of miles travelled on the survey, from Dr. M'Culloch's leaving London until his return to it again, being in all 8,713 miles, at 2 s. per mile, is	£.	s.	d.
	871	6	—
2. Bills for maps, &c. required in conducting the survey, amounting to	23	2	—
3. Contingent bill for extra expenses by the Doctor and his assistant on the survey, consisting of hire of boats and guides, amounting to the sum of	39	10	6
4. Bill for postages incurred on account of the mineralogical survey in 1826, 1827 and 1828, amounting to	3	15	1½
5. Account for stationery, amounting to	11	9	6
6. Bill for remuneration to the Doctor, and personal travelling expenses; viz.
184 days employed, at 2 l. per diem remuneration	£. 368	—	—
184 days personal travelling expenses, at 1 l. per day	184	—	—
	552	—	—
7. Bill for assistant, being the full amount allowed by Treasury Minute	90	—	—
Total sum claimed by Dr. M'Culloch	£. 1,591	3	1½

These bills exceed in amount the charges for the survey in summer 1826, in the sum of 631 l. 4 s. 7½ d.; and that of 1827, in the sum of 57 l. 16 s. 7½ d.

The bills appear to be holograph of Dr. M'Culloch, and are all signed by him; and the reporter begs leave to acquaint your Lordships that he has checked the summations of them, and also the calculations of the charges of 2 s. per mile for travelling, 2 l. per diem for remuneration, and 1 l. per diem for travelling expenses, and found them all correct, provided the number of miles travelled, and number of days employed are correctly stated.

In regard to the first bill, being a statement of the number of miles travelled by Dr. M'Culloch in making the survey, and in travelling from London to Scotland and returning, the reporter feels himself under the necessity of stating to your Lordships that the same observation applies to the bill for the year under consideration, as he took the liberty of submitting upon the bills of the two preceding years; namely, that from the various roads and directions in which the Doctor appears to have travelled, the reporter has no means of ascertaining the correctness of the number of miles stated to have been travelled.

It may be proper to mention to your Lordships, that the number of miles stated to have been travelled in 1826 amounted only to 4,428; but that year the Doctor was only 108 days occupied in the survey. The number of miles stated to have been travelled in 1827 amounted to 7,743; but in his bill for his assistant for that year the Doctor stated he was employed more than the six months, (the time prescribed by the Treasury Minute), which might account for the great excess in the number of miles beyond that of the former year.

In the year 1828, the charges for which are now under consideration, the Doctor appears to have been occupied the whole six months authorized by the Treasury Minute, the contents of which is, as stated by him, 184 days, and the number of miles stated to have been travelled amount to 8,713, being 970 miles more than in the year immediately preceding. It appears, from his bill, that he travelled from London to Glasgow, being 403 miles direct, which he might accomplish if he travelled day and night within two days; and in returning again to London, London, he seems to have started from Dumfries, which he states at 332 miles; this distance could not be performed in less than two days. Now supposing that he was four days occupied in travelling from London to Glasgow, and from Dumfries to London, a distance of 735 miles, he would have 186 days to travel the remainder of the number of miles charged, being 7,978 miles, which, divided by the 186 days, gives an average of from 44 to 45 miles a day travelled by him on his survey, but as he could not be occupied on his survey on Sundays, he at most could only be employed 155 days, which would give an average of from 51 to 52 miles a day; a rapidity of travelling which would hardly allow much time for scientific observations. Dr. McCulloch may probably have been occupied a longer time in the survey of 1828 than the six summer months, although he has only charged his personal travelling expenses and remuneration for his trouble for that period, being the term prescribed by the Treasury Minute, authorizing him to enter upon the survey; but if that was the case, he would naturally have stated it in some of his bills, which he has not done.

The bill for maps, &c., amounting to 29*l.* 2*s.*, is 20*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.* below that of the previous year. The contingent bill amounting to 39*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* is 7*s.* 6*d.* below the preceding year's charge. The bill for postages, amounting to 3*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*, comprehends the outlays on that head for the years 1826, 1827 and 1828, and consequently is a new charge. Dr. McCulloch has produced no authority for making the charge; it is presumed it might come under the head of contingent expenses, but as the amount of the contingent expenses is limited to 40*l.* a year, if the postages had been stated in that account, it would have increased it for the year 1827 to 1*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.*, and in the year 1828 to 12*s.* 10*d.* more than the limited sum.

The reporter has only further to remark that, with the exception of the difference which has been already noticed, the bills are similar to those formerly claimed by Dr. McCulloch for his surveys in the years 1826 and 1827, the first of which was allowed by your Lordships; and the latter were referred by your Lordships to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, for their Lordships consideration and directions, who, after a correspondence with, and report from, the Board of Ordnance, were pleased to authorize your Lordships to prepare a warrant for payment of them.

The amount of the whole expense incurred by Dr. McCulloch is

	£.	s.	d.
For 1826	-	-	959 18 6
1827	-	-	1,533 6 6
1828	-	-	1,591 3 1 1/2

All which is humbly reported by

(signed)

James L. Mitchell,

Deputy Auditor.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 12th June 1829.

READ report of the Barons of the Exchequer, dated 2d instant, on the bills of Dr. John M'Culloch for his mineralogical survey of Scotland, in summer 1828, in which they transmit a report of the auditor upon these accounts.

Write to Dr. M'Culloch to acquaint him that my Lords have received from the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland his account for expenses for the year 1828, in which they perceive a charge for 8,713 miles travelled during the season, the number of days charged 184; that deducting the distance between London and Scotland, and the time probably occupied in going and returning, it would appear that the daily distance travelled by Dr. M'Culloch on the survey, was rather more than 50 miles, which, considerable daily progress on a scientific survey, leads my Lords to apprehend some clerical error in stating the account; and that before they give directions for the preparation of a warrant for the issue of the money, they request to be informed by Dr. M'Culloch whether they are correct in supposing that some error has been accidentally made in preparing the accounts, either as to the number of miles travelled, or the number of days occupied, in which case they desire that it may be corrected.

State to him at the same time that it would be satisfactory to my Lords that he should add a certificate to the present and future accounts, that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the number of miles charged for is not greater than the number actually travelled by land on his survey.

Sir,

Moffat, July 12, 1829.

IN answer to your letter of the 16th of June, which after much difficulty has followed me hither, I beg to make the following remarks, which, from their fulness, will, I trust, prove more satisfactory to their Lordships, His Majesty's Commissioners of the Treasury, than a briefer answer.

This kind of survey, though "scientific" as you properly remark, does not require any thing demanding rest or delay; on the contrary, the more ground that can be traversed, the faster it is done. It consists in the sight, in contact, or near at hand, of so much ground; geological knowledge and experience learning to determine tracts of rock by single masses, analysis and inference, and the physiognomy of ground.

I was desired originally to execute it with as much speed as possible, and this has also been suggested or urged since, more than once, impliedly or otherwise, particularly in 1828; so that I considered myself as especially meeting the wishes of my Lords in the rapidity which your letter notes. Hence a steady and ardent pursuit, seldom leaving an hour's rest in a day of entire daylight, or even a single Sunday, for months; and my Lords will understand, that as the ground must be examined at hand, and not at a distance, as in geographical surveying, certain miles must be "travelled" or executed, that the work may be so too. The work is in itself an act of travelling, of space, distance, and every mile is so much of the survey.

With respect to 1828 also, a large portion of the time was occupied in a country full of good intersecting roads, which permitted of easy travelling; while, also, the geological nature of this tract, as the map will demonstrate, rendered that indispensable; and further, as to the "days compared to the miles," my anxiety to finish a very painful and vexatious work, for the toils of which I become annually less fit, and of which I much desire to see the end, induced me to spend more than six months on it in each of the last two seasons; while I now see that I misapprehended a clause in the Treasury Letter of July 1826, saying "it was understood that the time occupied would not exceed six months," as meaning that I should not claim the allowance per diem for a longer time, whereas the intention was that I should not claim for a longer period than that of my absence on this service. Hence I named only 184 days, so that my Lords will even perceive that I have not charged in 1828, and also in 1827, what I was entitled to do.

This statement will, I trust, Sir, explain fully the difficulties suggested in your letter; and I need only add, as a further answer, that in the manner in which the accounts of distances were kept, no error could have happened, unless it had occurred in the final summation, and that, throughout, the greatest care has been taken, as the bills themselves will show, in keeping the work compact, so as to exclude all travelling, even to a mile as far as possible, that did not produce some result in the survey to compensate its expense.

I trust that this detailed explanation will satisfy my Lords; but if it is their wish that I should not carry on this work so fast, and they will be pleased to name a limit, it will give me great satisfaction to conform not only in obedience to them, but for my own partial relief from a very severe toil, though in that case I presume they will consent to prolong the expected time of completion proportionally or indefinitely.

I have, &c.

(signed) J. M'Culloch.

P.S.—I am much at a loss how to receive an answer to such an order as that just alluded to; should it be sent, without wasting time in waiting for it, as I never remain more than one night at any place, and never can tell in what direction I shall go, where the geology, and not towns, are my only guide. But supposing that an answer, even if given, would not be immediate, it would probably be safest at the post-office, Berwick; whereas if I find no counter order, I shall suppose that their Lordships silence implies approbation.

I write the certificate which you have commanded on a separate paper, in case it should be necessary that it should be attached to the bills in question.

To the Hon. James Stewart.

Travelling Bill of 1828.

I beg to certify, that to the best of my knowledge and belief, the number of miles charged in this bill is not greater than what was performed in executing this survey, which also is entirely a land-survey, with the few exceptions noted in the bills themselves, and which are not charged as miles.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 21st July 1829.

READ letter from Dr. M'Culloch, dated 12th July 1829, further relating to his mineralogical survey of Scotland.

The explanation and certificate given by Dr. M'Culloch being satisfactory to my Lords, they desire that the necessary warrant may be prepared and submitted for His Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, authorizing and directing the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland to issue out of the hereditary revenue arising in that country, the sum of 1,591 l. 3 s. 1 d., on account of the mineralogical survey for the year 1828.

Acquaint Dr. M'Culloch, that as his explanation and certificate are satisfactory to my Lords, they have directed the necessary warrant to be prepared for the issue to him of 1,591 l. 3 s. 1 d. for the expenses of 1828, and that they rely on him to make all possible expedition in completing the survey.

Write to the Barons of Exchequer in Scotland, to acquaint them with the steps taken by my Lords in consequence of their Report of 2d June 1829; transmit to them copy of Dr. M'Culloch's reply, and inform them that my Lords have ordered that a warrant may be prepared in this office for the Royal Signature, authorizing and directing them to issue to Dr. M'Culloch the amount of the expenses for 1828.

Unto

Unto the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

May it please your Lordships,

WE beg to inform your Lordships that Dr. John McCulloch has presented to us his bills for his mineralogical survey of Scotland, directed to be made by your Lordships Minute of 4th July 1826, for the year 1829, which are as follow:

1. Account of miles travelled on the survey, from Dr. McCulloch's leaving London until his return to it again, stated by him at 7,564 miles, but his account is under-estimated four miles; which being added makes 7,568 miles, at 2s. per mile	£. s. d.
2. Bill for maps, &c. in conducting the survey, amounting to	756 16 -
3. Account for stationery, amounting to	30 12 3
4. Contingent bill for extra expenses by the Doctor and his assistant on the survey, consisting of hire of boats and guides, amounting to	10 4 6
5. Bill for remuneration to the Doctor, and personal travelling expenses, viz.	39 16 6
184 days employed, at 2£ per diem remuneration £. 368
184 days personal travelling expenses, at 1£ per diem 184
	552 - -
6. Bill for assistant, being the full amount allowed by the Treasury Minute	90 - -
Total Sum claimed by Dr. McCulloch	£. 1,479 9 2

Dr. McCulloch states in a postscript to the letter transmitting these accounts, that "not having been able yet to procure the amount of fees paid 1827 and 1828, I will forward them in a bill to be appended as soon as possible."

These bills exceed in amount the charges for the survey in summer 1826 in the sum of 522 £. 10s. 8d., and fall short of those of 1827 and 1828 in the respective sums of 31 £. 18s. 10d. and 111 £. 13s. 11½d.

These accounts have been examined by our auditor, of whose report a copy is herewith sent; but we think it right to mention that neither we nor that officer have any opportunity of judging of the accuracy of many of the items, particularly of the number of miles travelled for the purpose of the survey; nor does it appear from the Report of the Board of Ordnance of 4th July 1828, that that Board are enabled to ascertain the accuracy of such account.

Should your Lordships, however, be pleased to approve of Dr. McCulloch's accounts, we shall transmit the proper warrant for paying them to you, to be submitted to His Majesty for his signature.

We have the honour to be, &c.

Treasury Chambers, Edinburgh,
5 March 1830.

J. Clerk Rattray
David Hume.

Unto the Right Honourable the Lord Chief Baron and Barons of His Majesty's Court of Exchequer in Scotland.

The Report of the Auditor of Exchequer on the Accounts of Dr. John McCulloch, for his trouble and expenses in making a Mineralogical Survey in Scotland in the Year 1829.

IN obedience to your Lordships order of 15th January 1830, the auditor begs leave to report to your Lordships that Dr. McCulloch's accounts are submitted by him to your Lordships in terms of a Treasury Minute, of date the 4th of July 1826, a copy of which was transmitted to your Lordships by Mr. Hill of the Treasury on 14th March 1827.

The accounts now rendered are for Dr. McCulloch's expenses and allowances in prosecution of the survey in the summer of 1829, and consist of

1. An account of miles travelled on the survey, from Dr. McCulloch's leaving London until his return to it again, stated by him in all at 7,564 miles, but his account is under-summed four miles, which being added makes 7,568 miles, which, at 2s. per mile, is	756 16 0
2. Contingent bill for extra expenses by the Doctor and his assistant on the survey, consisting of hire of boats and guides, amounting to the sum of	39 16 6
3. Account for stationery, amounting to	10 4 6
4. Bills for maps, &c. required for conducting the survey, amounting to	30 12 2
5. Bill for remuneration to the Doctor, and personal travelling expenses, viz.
184 days employed, at 2l. per diem remuneration	368
184 days personal travelling expenses, at 1l. per diem	184
	552
6. Bill for assistant, being the full amount allowed by Treasury Minute	90
Total	1,479 9 2

The Reporter considers it proper to mention to your Lordships that Dr. McCulloch, in a postscript to his letter to the King's Remembrancer, transmitting the before-mentioned bills, states, that "not having been able yet to procure the account of fees paid in 1827 and 1828, I will forward them as a bill to be appended as soon as possible." This account has not yet been produced, and your Lordships will please consider whether or not you will be pleased to report the state of the Doctor's charges to the Treasury until he produces it.

The bills, as usual, appear to be holograph of Dr. McCulloch, and are all subscribed by him; and the reporter begs leave to acquaint your Lordships that he has checked the summations of them, and also the calculations of the charges at 2s. per mile for travelling, 2l. per diem for remuneration, and 1l. per day for travelling expenses, and found them all right, provided the number of miles travelled, and the number of days employed, are correctly stated; with the exception of an under summation of 4 in the account of the miles travelled, as has been already noticed.

With regard to the first bill, being a statement of the number of miles travelled in making the survey, and in travelling from London and returning to it, the reporter begs to acquaint your Lordships, that the total number of miles stated to have been travelled, amount, as already mentioned, to 7,568, being 1,145 less than the number stated for the year 1828; and supposing that he took three days to travel from London to Portpatrick, where it would appear he commenced his survey, being a distance of 416 miles, and two days in returning again to London from Kircudbright, where the survey terminated, a distance of 360 miles, making in all 776, which he might travel in five days, this would leave 6,792 travelled in the remaining 179 days, but as he could not be occupied in the survey on Sundays, he would only be employed 154 days, which would give an average of from 44 to 45 miles a day, being about seven miles a day less than he travelled last year, but still sufficiently rapid for a person engaged in scientific observations.

The contingent bill for extra expenses, amounting to 39l. 16s. 6d. is 6s. more than the like bill for the year immediately preceding, and 1s. 6d. below that for the year 1827.

The bill for stationery being 10l. 4s. 6d., is 1l. 5s. less than it was for the year 1828, and 1l. 9s. 6d. below that of 1827.

The bill for maps, &c. required for conducting the survey, amounting to 30l. 12s. 2d., is 7l. 10s. 2d. more than the one for the year 1828, and 12l. 18s. 4d. less than it was for the year 1827.

The bill for remuneration and personal travelling expenses is charged at the same rate per day as the bills for the previous year, which were all paid, and the bill for the assistant, 90l. is the same as it was for each of the years 1827 and 1828, being the full amount allowed by the Treasury Minute.

The reporter has only further to remark, that, with the exception of the difference in amount which has been already noticed, the bills are similar to those formerly claimed by and paid to Dr. McCulloch for his surveys. The sum paid to him him, for his survey in 1826, was 959 l. 18 s. 6 d.; for 1827, 1,511 l. 8 s. 6 d., exclusive of 21 l. 18 s. of fees paid by him in procuring payment of his bill for the previous year; for 1828, 1,591 l. 3 s. 1 d., and for the year 1829 he claims 1,479 l. 9 s. 2 d. as before mentioned.

ACCOUNT of Miles travelled in conducting the Mineralogical Survey in Scotland in 1829, pursuant to an Order of His Majesty's Commissioners of the Treasury, dated 10th July 1826, under an allowance of 2 s. per Mile.

Sir,

11, St. James's-square, 2d January 1830.

IN consequence of the order from His Majesty's Commissioners of the Treasury, which I had the honour of receiving last Spring, I beg to make the following report of the survey under my charge for this last season 1829.

The plan marked out for this year was designed to finish the whole southern division, hitherto untouched, or only slightly examined in places as far as the English border; and it is done; yet under certain vexatious doubts, produced by the very unprecedented badness of the summer, which, though it may not prevent such work, interferes much with its satisfactory accuracy. Had it not been for the urgency expressed in your letter of the 24th July, there was much that I would gladly have suffered to remain for a more favourable season, and which may yet require amendment.

To report what has been surveyed in the most intelligible manner, I will request you to take a line on the map of Scotland in the following direction, and to conceive all to the south of it examined, though with some subjects of hesitation, from the cause above stated. If that line may appear vague in words, it is even more so in fact; because it cannot be defined nor considered finished up to its apparent limits till it is met northwards by a continuation of this survey.

You will please to begin about Ardwell, south of Girvan, and proceed to Dalmellington by Straiton, and then to the south of Sanquhar, and thus to Crawford; hence to Peebles, Lauder and Eyemouth, where the boundary terminates, so as to cut off this part of Scotland from the northern part adjoining; which, as finished in the last year's survey, terminates on this line, about Dalmellington, commencing from the west, leaving a great tract of the great coal-field, east of it untouched, together with all the same up to Edinburgh, Lithgow and Stirling, and southwards to St. Abbs Head and Eyemouth.

You will thus perceive that a very large tract of Scotland has been examined this season, so as to have brought the work much farther on than I had expected when I planned this portion.

I know not if a notice of what is connected with the statistical ends is expected, as I have not hitherto been commanded to make any partial report of this nature; but if it be so, the following portion is the chiefly interesting one; while a report of every thing, I need scarcely say, would form a sort of volume, even now impracticable, while it must needs form part of a general one hereafter.

I allude to the definition of a coal-field, hitherto not known in Scotland as such; and no where wrought, except very partially near Canobie. This hitherto unsuspected tract reaches from Fanna Hill and the Carter Fell, all the way to Ardbigland, in Galloway, but it is very much broken, and apparently worthless westward of Langholm; while eastward, for a very wide and continuous space, it lies chiefly in the Duke of Buccleuch's lands, though I am not fully informed as to his boundaries. In the decidedly worthless part much money has been idly wasted; and to save this in future is to stop the diversion of the capital to unproductive purposes. At the other extremity it has not been known or understood, and thus reversely there may be gain from the knowledge, as the actual discovery of coal would improve a now very unproductive country. To mark the field is the fundamental step, and it is all of which my survey can take cognizance.

I presume that this is as much as was expected by my Lords, in a report of this nature; and it is pleasing to me that the compactness of the district examined allows it to be so brief.

I trust also that it will be gratifying to their Lordships to know that the tract surveyed this year is more extensive, and at the same time more compact, than any that has yet been executed.

I have the honour to be, &c.

To the Honourable J. K. Stewart,
&c. &c. &c.

(signed) J. M'Culloch.

Sir, 11, St. James's-square, 2d January 1830.

I BEG permission, under the same date and cover, to notice the letters with which I was honoured by my Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, dated the 16th June and 24th July 1829. I could not then answer the first completely for want of the necessary documents, and the answer to the second was, as of course, only practicable after the work was finished for the season. It was a command to be obeyed. The report which accompanies this shows how that has been done, and it only remains here to state why it was not better obeyed, in as far as it seemed to desire a rapidity of execution equal to that of the preceding year.

If I did not traverse so much ground, it was because I found that would be ill economy as to the work, since the weather did not permit so profitable a use of travelling for the ends of the survey; accordingly the number of miles is less by 1,147; but in this I consider that the service has saved, since a greater number than were used would probably have been of inadequate productiveness. If I could have foreseen the character of many of the days that occurred in this most singular summer, or had I dared to relax very materially under an apparent anxiety on the part of my Lords for the completion of this work, I should perhaps have thought it prudent to attempt still less.

As to the letter of the 16th June, I trust you will permit me to represent what appears an oversight in the calculation, by which my travelling on this "scientific survey" is stated at "fifty miles per day." It was the only portion of that letter which I could not answer, because I had not the account with me. If the journeys from and to London are abstracted, it will be perceived that this average is but 45 miles, while in reality much even of this portion consists not in surveying, but in mere changes of place, rendered unavoidable by the singular intricacy of the geology in the work of that summer. Nor is it even that, from the fact which I already stated in my answer to that letter respecting the number of days employed.

I trust there is no impropriety in my suggesting this further correction, since it will render my former letter still more satisfactory, while I may here add, that the average computed in the same manner for this year, and including also some mere transferences of place, does not exceed 38 miles per day.

Perhaps it will also be satisfactory if I add, that the total number is 7,564, or, as already stated, 1,147 less than in the last year; a circumstance which I should have regretted if it could have been avoided, since it tends to prolong the time that will be required for finishing the whole, while I trust that my apology will be furnished by the season.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(signed) J. McCulloch.

Permit me to add, that in obedience to my Lords commands I have appended to the account of miles in the bill of this year the certificate ordered in their letter on this subject.

Sir,

11, St. James's-square, 20th March 1830.

IN reference to my communication of the 2d January will you permit me to add, what I have derived from an examination of documents not then in my possession, that the portions of the mineralogical map of Scotland not yet completed amount to the following:

A large district, extending from Loch Fyne to Oban, and northwards to beyond Loch Eil; a tract lying to the eastward of Ben Nevis, and reaching to Loch Ericht, of less extent; a similar tract on the southern boundary of the Grampians between Blairgourie and the Eastern Sea, and including some of the mountainous lands to the Dee. The coal-field from St. Abb's Head, or nearly, to Stirling on one line, and on its southern boundary into Ayrshire, the executed boundaries of which were reported in my last letter.

These are the great blanks. But besides this there are tracts and spots, of various sizes, in Angus and Forfar, in Aberdeenshire, in Fife, in Stirling, Renfrew and Dumbartonshires, in Perthshire and elsewhere, which the peculiar demands of the Ordnance Survey did not allow me to fill up during that service, besides a few imperfections reported in the last survey, owing to the weather. If it can be any satisfaction to my Lords, I can prepare the map, before long, so as to exhibit exactly exactly all that has been done, and to display these deficiencies more particularly by attending with it.

I wish also to add, that having in 1826, when I was first employed under the Treasury, estimated (as I then stated to their Lordships) that the whole work would occupy five or six years, I am very much pleased to have found no reason to change my opinion as to the time of its completion. A suspicion of the difficulty of the coal-fields chiefly, together with anticipations of bad weather, had made me name the longer term; and my experience has justified this conjecture. I have now been engaged three seasons and a half, and I have no reason to doubt, from the progress already made, that the work will be altogether completed within the six seasons.

I have the honour to be, &c.

The Hon. J. K. Stewart,
&c. &c.

Copy of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 16th April 1830.

MY Lords read the Report of the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland upon the accounts of Dr. M'Culloch, for the expenses incurred in the year 1829 in prosecuting the geological survey of Scotland, which he is carrying on under the sanction of this Board.

My Lords read also two letters of Dr. M'Culloch of 2d January 1830, in which he gives explanations with respect to the accounts, and reports the progress which he has made during the summer of 1829 in the prosecution of this scientific work.

My Lords read the further letter from Dr. M'Culloch of 20th March, in which he states in detail which portion of Scotland has already been surveyed, and what portion remains yet to be surveyed, and in which he states also that he has every reason to believe that the whole survey will be completed within the time named by him when he commenced it in 1826, viz. in five or six years.

He at the same time expresses his readiness to prepare and exhibit a map of what has been done, and to attend their Lordships Board, and give such explanations as may appear to be necessary.

These explanations and statements of Dr. M'Culloch's appear to my Lords to be satisfactory, and they desire therefore that the necessary warrant may be prepared in this office, and submitted for His Majesty's Royal Signature, authorizing and directing the Barons of the Exchequer of Scotland to pay to Dr. M'Culloch, out of His Majesty's hereditary revenue in Scotland, 1,479*l.* 9*s.* 2*d.* in discharge of his account for 1829.

Acquaint Dr. M'Culloch, and state at the same time, that my Lords would be glad to have before them a map prepared in the manner he proposes, and that he should attend their Lordships assistant secretary, Mr. Stewart, to afford such information and explanation upon it as my Lords may require.

Request him therefore to transmit such a map to Mr. Stewart accordingly.

RETURN to an Address of The Honourable House of Commons, dated 16th March 1831;—for,

AN ACCOUNT of the ANNUAL VALUE of REAL PROPERTY and of INCOME respectively upon which the PROPERTY TAX was Assessed in each County in 1815.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE LORDS COMMISSIONERS OF HIS MAJESTY'S TREASURY.

May it please your Lordships,

WITH reference to the accompanying Return to an Address of the Honourable House of Commons of 16th March 1831, for an Account of the Annual Value of Real Property on which the Property Tax was charged for the year 1815, we beg to state, that for the year 1814 the Account can be prepared so far as regards the Assessments under Schedule A. on Real Property; and it can be given under Schedule D. with respect to Profits of Trade and Professions; and under Schedule E. so far as concerns the Profits of Offices of a public nature, not under Government; but the Assessments on Dividends stopped at the Bank under Schedule C. cannot be stated in Counties, nor that part of the Assessment under Schedule E. which regards the Salaries, Pay, &c. in Public Offices under Government.

We have the honour to transmit herewith an Account made out of the Amounts under the Schedules above-mentioned.

We are, your Lordship's most devoted Servants,

Robert Mitford.

Charles Powlett Rushworth.

Henry Campbell.

REPORT

From the National Vaccine Establishment to the Secretary of State for the Home Department.

TO THE LORD VISCOUNT MELBOURNE,
Secretary of State for the Home Department, &c. &c. &c.

MY LORD,

National Vaccine Establishment,
14th March 1831.

IT has required all our industry and zeal to supply the numerous demands which have been made upon us for Vaccine Matter from all quarters of the Empire since our last Report.

We have furnished the means of protection to the Army and Navy, to every county in England and Scotland, to Ireland, to the Colonies, and moreover to several of the capitals of Europe ; and nearly 12,000 of the poor of the Metropolis and its immediate neighbourhood have been vaccinated in the course of the last year.

Whilst this affords an undeniable proof of the great diffusion of Vaccination, and is a strong argument for the value of this Institution, it diminishes our satisfaction to be obliged to confess, that, if Parliament should determine that enough had now been done to establish the superior merit of Vaccination above every other security against the danger of Small Pox, and that it should be left henceforward to the discretion and good sense of the nation to continue the practice from the resources of individuals, such a determination would find the country unprepared and unprovided with the means of defence, and that a great mortality from Small Pox would be an early consequence of the breaking up of this Establishment.

It is our constant care to admonish those to whom we send Lymph, of the propriety of taking advantage of the opportunity of providing a further supply for themselves. But it would seem, from the incessant applications which continue to be made to us, either that our warnings are not sufficiently attended to, or what we believe to be the fact, from the replies constantly made to us, it is impracticable to keep up a continued supply anywhere but in the capital where numerous appointed Vaccinators assist and support each other.

The result of another year's experience is a confirmation of the value of Vaccination. We have evidence before us of persons being exposed to the severest trials of its power of protection in the midst of the contagion of the Small Pox, with impunity ; and though some constitutions do admit a secondary disease, yet this is almost always a safe one, though severe in some instances in its first attack, and it is not so common as the Chicken Pox used to be after Small Pox given by Inoculation.

We have the honour to be, my Lord, your Lordship's obedient Servants,

(signed) HENRY HALFORD,
President of the Royal Coll. of Physicians.

REPORT and STATEMENT of the EXPENDITURE incurred by the BOUNDARY DEPARTMENT of the ORDNANCE SURVEY of Ireland, between the 1st of September 1825 and 31st March 1831, under the 6 Geo. IV.
c. 99, prepared by Richard Griffith, General Boundary Surveyor.

SIR,

General Boundary Survey Office,
Dublin, April 5th 1831.

IN compliance with the Order of The House of Commons of the 16th of February last, I have the honour to send an Account, in detail, under separate heads, of the Expenditure of the Sum of £.12,000. received by me from the Treasury, during the year 1829, as General Boundary Surveyor, under the Act 6th Geo. IV. c. 99, for forming Tables of the Names of Parishes in Ireland for that year; also, a general Statement of the Sums already paid for that Service from the commencement to the present time, and an Estimate of the Amount that will probably be required to complete the Boundary Survey.

For further elucidation, I have prefixed to the Account a Report, setting forth the system adopted by me in perambulating and marking the Boundaries for the Ordnance Survey of Ireland, accompanied by a Statement of the Progress that has already been made in that Service.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant,

Right Hon. E. G. Stanley,
&c. &c. &c.

Richard Griffith,
General Boundary Surveyor,
6 Geo. 4, cap. 99.

R E P O R T, &amp;c.

THE determination of the Boundaries for the Ordnance Survey of Ireland, under 6th Geo. IV. c. 99, was commenced by me, by order of the Marquis Wellesley, in the month of August 1825, and has been continued without interruption from that period to the present time.

During the progress of the work, several alterations and improvements have taken place in the mode of conducting this Department. I shall now, therefore, describe the system which experience has proved to be the best, and the duties performed by each class of persons employed.

The Establishment consists, first, of myself, as Conductor of the Boundary Department; second, of four District Boundary Surveyors; third, of several Assistant Boundary Surveyors; fourth, of Draftsmen and Clerks in the Boundary Survey Office, Dublin.

In the discharge of my duties as General Superintendent, I keep a settled Office in the City of Dublin, from which all communications are transmitted to the different landed proprietors, announcing the advance of the Survey, and calling for the co-operation necessary on their part to give it full effect. In this Office, the maps and other documents required for ascertaining Boundaries are requested to be forwarded, and from whence traces of such as are necessary are transmitted, under my personal direction, to the different Boundary Surveyors.

My time is occupied in making frequent visits to each of the districts under survey; in carefully examining the monthly Progress Returns; in comparing the Boundaries of the parish sketch maps with each other, and with the documents procured from the landed proprietors, where any difficulty or disagreement has occurred; in checking and inquiring into the Expenditure shown in the monthly Pay Returns; and in determining disputed Boundaries, by examining witnesses, and comparing the maps and claims of contending parties on the spot; and I have the pleasure to state, that in many cases Boundaries have been satisfactorily determined, where the extent of property in dispute exceeded one thousand acres.

In each district under survey, the Civil Establishment employed to ascertain and mark the Boundaries to be surveyed consists of a District Boundary Surveyor and several Assistant Boundary Surveyors; the number of assistants being proportioned to the strength of the Ordnance surveying party in the district.

The duties of the District Boundary Surveyors consist chiefly in laying out the work for the Assistants, and in visiting them frequently, and marking on the ground the lines of Boundary hitherto undetermined, but not disputed, being guided by the maps of the parties concerned, or by their agreement, as to certain fixed points on the Boundary; determining minor disputed Boundaries by consent of the parties; comparing the Boundaries on the sketch maps with the traces from the maps of the landed proprietors procured by me; preparing monthly Progress Returns, showing the work performed by each person employed during the month; and also Returns of the several Payments made by him in each month.

HOW THE WORK IS PERFORMED.

Previously to commencing a new district or county, an advertisement is inserted in the provincial newspapers in general circulation in the county, and circular letters are sent round by me to all the landed proprietors, or their agents, whom we can discover, calling upon them to determine their undefined or disputed Boundaries, to lend the maps of their estates on which the Boundaries are represented, and to appoint meersmen or persons to show their Boundaries.

Being myself personally acquainted with the greater number of the principal landed proprietors in Ireland, I have rarely been refused permission to make the necessary traces from their private maps, which are so essential to the accuracy as well as rapidity of our progress.

Having accumulated all the documents that can be procured, the perambulation of the townlands contained in each parish is commenced by an Assistant Boundary Surveyor, attended by the meersmen appointed by the proprietors or their agents; and should they neglect to appoint meersmen when called upon to do so, the most intelligent persons that can be found, who are acquainted with the Boundaries, are employed by the Boundary Surveyor to point them out.

The Assistant Boundary Surveyor not only perambulates and marks the Boundaries of the townlands, &c. but makes a hand sketch, showing the detail of the Boundary so perambulated, which he compares with the proprietors' maps; and afterwards he prepares from his notes a general hand sketch map of the parish, on each of the divisions contained in which he marks the nature of the Boundary, whether it be by a stream, drain, earthface, wall, &c. and mentions the part of the fence to be measured to.

Each of these sketch maps, when completed, is hung up in the Office of the District Boundary Surveyor for the inspection and observation of all persons interested, and an advertisement is inserted in the newspaper, stating where the sketch map may be seen. A notice is also posted up in the parish, calling upon all persons to come forward and inform the District Boundary Surveyor of any inaccuracy that may have occurred, or may be supposed to have occurred, occurred, in perambulating and marking the townland Boundaries. Having gone through this ordeal, and the whole having been examined into by me, the sketch map (then considered to be complete) is handed over to the officer commanding the Ordnance Survey in the district, to serve, in addition to the meersman, to guide the surveying parties to the true Boundaries.

When undetermined or disputed Boundaries occur, the Boundary Surveyor calls upon the landed proprietors, or their agents, to fix upon a Boundary ; if they neglect to do so (which generally happens), the District Boundary Surveyor makes a survey of the disputed Boundary, which, together with all the documents, are transmitted to me ; and soon afterwards I proceed to the place to mark a Boundary for the survey, calling upon those interested to meet me on the ground ; and in every case, but three, that has yet occurred, I have been fortunate enough to determine a Boundary which has been agreed to by all parties.

It is to be observed, that the northern counties of Ireland, throughout their whole extent, may be classed as mountainous ; for though some of the vallies are large, fertile and highly cultivated, the townland divisions generally cross their direction at right angles, and a portion of valley and a portion of mountain are usually comprehended within the limits of each townland. It unfortunately happens that few Boundaries have hitherto been made in the mountain portions ; and the moment our perambulation commences in the vallies, cross claims are made for portions of the mountain by the proprietors or tenants of the neighbouring townlands. In many cases the Boundary claimed to on both sides has been long disputed and frequently litigated ; in others, the tenants of the adjoining townlands had grazed the mountain in common, and had never thought of a Boundary ; but when it became necessary for the purposes of the survey to mark townland Boundaries in the mountains, each party determined to claim as much as they could, and were very pertinacious in their demands.

From the commencement of the perambulation of the Boundaries, every exertion has been made by me to adjust the several claims in a satisfactory manner ; and I am happy to say we have hitherto been able to effect this desirable object, though the number of disputed Boundaries settled by us exceed six thousand, many of which were of considerable extent and value, and had been litigated several times.

Had we proceeded in the rapid manner which we were authorized to do by the Act of Parliament, we might have saved ourselves much trouble and vexation ; but instead of settling disputes and terminating lawsuits, as we have done, we should probably have created new ones ; and the Ordnance Map, when completed, would not have represented, as it now will do, the true Boundary through the mountains, which have been determined with the consent of all parties interested, but a set of arbitrary lines, which would have been agreed to by none.

To effect the desirable object I have described, patience, perseverance and sound judgment were absolutely necessary. In most cases of importance the Boundary Surveyor attends on the ground several times before all the proprietors or their agents can be got together ; and when they do meet, it frequently becomes prudent to adjourn the investigation, without coming to a decision, to allow the angry feelings which usually arise at such meetings to subside, and in the end the parties generally concur in leaving the matter to our decision.

In respect to the progress that has been made, I have to state, that within the last two years and a half, we have perambulated and ascertained the Boundaries of the Counties of Leitrim, Sligo, Mayo, Cavan, Roscommon, Longford, Meath, Westmeath, Dublin and Kildare, together with parts of the Counties of Donegal, Monaghan and Louth, including altogether an area of 5,871,243 statute acres.

This rapid progress was rendered necessary by the increased demand for the sketch maps of parishes made by the Ordnance Surveyors. We are now, however, so far in advance, that I think I may with safety make a considerable reduction in the Establishment, particularly in Letter (B.) District in the County of Galway.

The entire number of Counties that have already been perambulated amount to twenty-two,—viz.

The perambulation of the Counties of Wicklow, King's County, Queen's County and Galway, has been commenced, and nearly the whole of the data necessary for the several parish sketch maps for those counties has been prepared in my office, and is ready to be handed over to the Boundary Surveyors.

Ireland contains about twenty millions of statute acres, of which, as it appears from the foregoing table, upwards of ten millions of acres have been completed. From my knowledge of the country, I am of opinion, that our progress will be more rapid in the Midland and Southern Counties than it has been in the Northern and Western, partly from the increased experience and skill of the Boundary Surveyors, and partly from the country being, on an average, more cultivated and less mountainous than that which we have gone through; as I have always found, that in flat and cultivated countries we meet with comparatively few interruptions and delays from unascertained and disputed Boundaries. It is on these grounds that I estimate the sum which will probably be required to complete the Boundary Department of the Ordnance Survey of Ireland at £.25,000.

In conclusion, I beg to observe, that a great part of the country in which we have been employed consists of mountainous and uncultivated tracts, where the Boundaries of property were frequently undetermined, and in many parts disputed. This circumstance has rendered the determining of the Boundaries a most difficult and tedious task; but I am happy to say, that hitherto we have succeeded beyond my expectations. Upwards of seven hundred miles in length of disputed Boundaries have been determined by myself and assistants, to the satisfaction of all parties concerned; and nearly three thousand miles of undetermined Boundaries have been ascertained and lockspitted under my direction since the commencement of the Survey.

The ascertainment of the Boundaries of property hitherto undetermined or disputed has had a most beneficial effect in the country. In many parts meering ditches have been made along the lockspitted lines, and drainage and other improvements are now in progress in these places, which previously had been the scene of frequent bickerings and impounding of cattle among the people, and the cause of expensive and interminable lawsuits among the proprietors of the soil.

For

For further elucidation, I send a Map of Ireland on a small scale, on which MAP, No. 1.
the portions that have been perambulated and marked, and those that are now in progress, are shown by distinguishing colours.

I also send a copy of the Sketch Map of the parish of Ballintemple, in the county MAP, No. 2.
of Cavan, reduced to one half the scale of those which are supplied by the Boundary Department, for the guidance of the Ordnance Surveyors. On this Sketch Map the situations of the several Boundaries formerly in dispute, but which have been satisfactorily determined by the Boundary Surveyors, are shown by dotted lines, which lines have been marked or lockspitted on the ground by small open trenches, cut in the line of the Boundary that has been adopted. The length of Boundaries formerly in dispute in the parish, but which have been satisfactorily determined by the Boundary Surveyor, amount altogether to twelve miles five furlongs.

BOUNDARY SURVEY—NAMES OF PARISHES, IRELAND.

---

RETURN to an Order of The Honourable House of Commons, dated 16 February 1831;—for,

AN ACCOUNT, in detail, under separate Heads, of the EXPENDITURE of £. 12,000. entered amongst the Miscellaneous Payments of 1829, as paid out of the Consolidated Fund in Ireland, for forming TABLES of NAMES of PARISHES in Ireland, in that Year, and under what Authority the same has been paid;—also, An Account of the Sums already paid for that Service, and an ESTIMATE of how much more will be required to complete the same TABLES.

---

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,

CORPORATE TOWNS, IRELAND.

RETURNS of the Number of PROTESTANT TRADESMEN and ARTIFICERS admitted to the FREEDOM of the Town of Galway, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish Statute of 4 Geo. 1, c. 15, within the last Ten Years;—also, of the Number of PROTESTANT SETTLERS who have been admitted to the FREEDOM of the Cities of Cork, Limerick and Londonderry, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish Statute of 14 & 15 Charles 2, c. 13, within the last Ten Years;—also, Copies of the CHARTERS of INCORPORATION granted to the Town of Galway by Queen Elizabeth and King Charles 2.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 28 February 1831.

---

RETURN of the Number of PROTESTANT TRADESMEN and ARTIFICERS admitted to the Freedom of the Town of Galway, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish Statute of the 4th Geo. 1, c. 15, within the last Ten Years.

IT does not appear by the books of the Corporation, or in any other manner whatever, that any protestant tradesman or tradesmen and artificer or artificers was or were admitted to the freedom of the town of Galway within the last ten years, pursuant to the provisions of the above recited Act.

N. B.—Several years ago, about 58 in number of protestant tradesmen were admitted to the freedom of the town of Galway, pursuant to the provisions of the above recited Act, several of whom are since dead.

All which I humbly certify, at the Tholsel in Galway, this 17th February 1831.

John O'Hara,
D' Town Clerk.

---

A RETURN of the Number of PROTESTANT SETTLERS who have been admitted to the Freedom of the Cities of Cork, Limerick and Londonderry, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish statute of 14 & 15 Ch. 2, c. 13, within the last Ten Years.

City of Cork.

I HUMBLY certify, that no protestant settler has been admitted to the freedom of the city of Cork, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish statute of the 14th and 15th Ch. 2, c. 13, within the last ten years.

Town Clerk's Office, }
City of Cork, 15th Feb. 1831. }

William Jones,
Town Clerk.

City of Limerick.

I do hereby certify, that there have been no admissions of protestant settlers to the freedom of the city of Limerick, pursuant to the provisions of the Irish statute of 14 & 15 Ch. 2, c. 13, within the last ten years.

Edward Parker,
Town Clerk.

City of Londonderry.

I CERTIFY, that there have not been any admitted.

13th February 1831.

James Gregg,
Chamberlain.

Rolls Office, Ireland.

COPY of the CHARTER of INCORPORATION granted to the Town of Galway, by King Charles the Second.

CHARLES the Second, by the Grace of God, of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c.: TO all to whome these p̃sents shall come, greeting. Whereas by f̃res under our royall signett & signe mannuall, beareing date att our court att Whitehall, the sixteenth day of August, which was in the three and twentieth yeare of our reygne, directed to our right trusty and welbeloved counsellor John Lord Berkely, our Leiv' Genall and Genall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland, & to the cheife Governor or Governors there for the tyme being, wee did signifie our royall will & pleasure therein, that whereas many of the charters of the severall citties & townes formerly corporate in our said kingdome of Ireland have been, by reason of the severall miscarriages & misdemeanors of the said citties & townes durning y<sup>e</sup> time of the late horrid rebellion in that our kingdome, forfeited unto us, and other of the said corporaçõs are dissolved or otherwise determined, soe y<sup>e</sup> wee may justly reseize all y<sup>e</sup> libt̃ies & franchises that have been by any our royall ancestors granted to the said corporaçõs, if wee would take the full & utmost advantage that wee legally might against them; and that whereas wee were graciously pleased, for the encouragement of trade in our said kingdome of Ireland, to extend our favor to such of the said corporaçõs as our said Liev' Genall & Genall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland shall judge best merritting the same, and to grant unto them new charters, with such lands & other priviledges, liberties & advantages formerly belonging unto them, as should appeare unto our said Liev' Genall & Genall Govnor of Ireland to bee fitt and reasonable to bee granted unto them, wee did therefore by our said f̃res declare our royall will & pleasure, and did thereby give unto our said Liev' Genall & Genall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland full power & authority to make due inspecçõ into the severall charters formerly granted by any of our royall ancestors to the severall citties & townes corporate in our said kingdome of Ireland; and upon humble suite made unto our said Liev' Generall & Generall Governor of our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland, by the members of the s<sup>d</sup> severall citties & townes, to cause new charters, by the advice of our learned counsell in that our kingdome, or some of them, to bee past unto the said citties & townes formerly corporate respectively, under the greateseale of our said kingdome of Ireland, in such manner as our s<sup>d</sup> Lieu' Generall & Genall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland should think fitt, and thereby to grant unto the s<sup>d</sup> citties & townes formerly corporate respectively, such of the lands, tenements & hereditaments formerly belonging unto them, and also such libt̃ies, franchises, priviledges and advantages formerly granted unto or enjoyed by them, with such restricçõs, limittaçõs & excepçõs as our said Liev' Genall and Genall Govnor of our said kingdome of Ireland should think fitt and most conducing to our service, & the better support of the said corporaçõs: And whereas the mayor, sherriffs, burgesses & comonalties of our said towne and county of our towne of Gallway, takeing notice of our princely grace and favor intended to our citties & townes corporate in our realme of Ireland, by our said f̃res of the sixteenth day of August, in the three & twentieth yeare of our reygne, have humbly petitioned our right trusty and right welbeloved cousin & counsellor, Arthur Earl of Essex, our Liev' Generall & Generall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland, that wee would be graciously pleased to grant unto them a new charter, & thereby incorporate them & their successors to bee one body corporate & pollitique within our said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, in succession for ever, and to have and enioy such lands, tenemen' & hereditam't', royalties,

royalties, franchises, liberties & privileges as our said Liev' Generall & Generall Governor of our said kingdome of Ireland should think fitt, for the encouragement of trade, & the advantage of our service there, & have also since made it their humble and earnest desire that wee would bee graciously pleased to make some provision in our said new charter for securing the disbursem<sup>t</sup> & charges which Theodorus Russell, esq., their present mayor, hath been at in laying out severall greatesumes of money to redeeme them from their lost condic<sup>o</sup>n, by purchasing in from Elizabeth Hamilton, the widow and relict of James Hamilton, esq. lately deceased, y<sup>e</sup> estate, right, title & interest in & unto such charter, markett & petty duties formerly belonging unto the s<sup>d</sup> corporac<sup>o</sup>n, which were forfeited unto & granted by us unto the said Elizabeth, by tres patents under our greateseale of Ireland, beareing date the fifth day of December, in the five & twentyeth yeare of our reygne, and for a futher compensation of his greates paines & favor therein shewed unto them: And whereas wee were graciously pleased, for the better improving of the said towne & settling of trade & manufacture therein, to condescend unto the humble desires of the s<sup>d</sup> petic<sup>o</sup>ners; Now know yee that wee of our espetiall grace, certayne knowledge & meere mo<sup>o</sup>con, by & with the advice & consent of our right trusty & right welbeloved cousin & counsellor, Arthure Earle of Essex, our Lieu' Generall & Generall Governor of our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland, and according to the tenor of our said tres under our royall signett & signe mannuall, bearing date att our court att Whitehall, the sixteenth day of August, in the three & twentyeth yeare of our reygne, and inrolled in the rolls of our high court of Chancery in our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland, have willed, declared, ordained, constituted & granted, & by these p<sup>s</sup>ents doe will, declare, ordaine, constitute & grant, that our s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, & all & singular castles, houses, messuages, tofts, mills, edifices, structures, curtilages, gardens, waste grounds, lands, tenements & hereditaments, scituate, lyeing & being within the towne of Gallway, shalbe att all times hereafter one intire & free burrough of itselfe, by the name of the towne & burrough of Gallway, and shall from hence forth be called, taken & knowne by the name of the towne & burrough of Gallway, and all & singular the p<sup>r</sup>misses into one intire burrough of itselfe, by the name of the towne and burrough of Gallway, wee doe erect, constitute, make & ordaine by these p<sup>s</sup>ents. And further, of our especiall grace, certayne knowledge & meere mo<sup>o</sup>con, by & with the advice & consent aforesaid, wee have willed, ordeyned & constituted, & by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heires & successors, wee doe will, ordeyne & constitute, that the said towne of Gallway, & all castles, messuages, waters, rivers, lands, tenements & other hereditaments whatsoever, lyeing and being within the space of two milles frome every pte of the said towne of Gallway in a direct lyne, from hence forth be one intire county of it selfe, corporate in deed and name, and shall bee for ever distinct and altogether separte from the county of Gallway, and y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> county of the towne soe corporate & distinct & separte from the s<sup>d</sup> county of Gallway shall for ever hereafter bee called, taken and knowne to bee the county of the towne of Gallway; p<sup>r</sup>vided allwaie notwithstanding, & our will & pleasure is, and wee doe hereby declare, institute, ordeyne & appoynt that our justices of assize & goale deliverie, & our justices of the peace in their sessions for buisnesse touching the county of Gallway att large, and alsoe the sherriffe of the county of Gallway att large for the tyme being in holding his tournes or other his courts, and all other com<sup>r</sup> of inquiry & other officers of us, our heires & successors, & every of them, who have heretofore held their courts within the county of Gallway att large, shall & may have free ingresse, egresse and regresse into the towne of Gallway, & there hold their sessions for all matters & things whatsoever which shall or may happen to bee done or arise without the said county of y<sup>e</sup> towne of Gallway & within the county of Gallway att large, in such place as they thinke fitt, in as ample manner, to all intents and purposes, as they did heretofore hold the same in S<sup>t</sup> Francis abbey or any pte of the county of Gallway att large, or as they might hold the same in case the s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway & p<sup>r</sup>cinets of the same were not hereby made an intire countye of itt selfe but remained pte of the said county of Gallway att large, any thing in these our tres patt. conteyned to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding. And further, of our speciall grace, certayne knowledge & meere mo<sup>o</sup>con, by & with the advice & consent aforesaid, wee have given and granted, & by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heires & successors, wee doe give and grant, that in the said towne & county of our towne of Gallway there shall bee for ever hereafter one new body corporate and pollitique in deed and name, consisting of one mayor, two sherriffs, & free burgesses & comonaltie of the towne and county of the towne of Galway, and them the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & comonaltie of the said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, and their successors, into one body corporate & politique for ever to endure, wee doe by these psents fully make, create, establishe & unite, and y<sup>e</sup> y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> body corporate shall for ever bee called & knowne by the name of the mayor, sherriffe, free burgesses & comonaltie of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway, and y<sup>e</sup> by the same name they and their successors shall have ppetuall succession, and shall bee able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive & possesse lands, tenements, libties, priveledges, jurisdictiones, franchises & hereditaments whatsoever, of what kinde or nature soever, unto them & their successors in fee or ppetuity, and alsoe goods & chattles and all other things whatsoever, of what nature or kinde soever; and alsoe to give, grant, demise & assigne lands, tenements & hereditaments, goods & chattles, and to doe & execute all other matters & things by the name aforesaid as any other pson naturall or body pollitique lawfully could or might doe in any wise; and likewise that they and their successors, by the name of the mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & comonaltie of the towne and county of the towne of Gallway, may plead and be impleaded, answere and bee answered, before us, our heires & successors, and before any of the justices, com<sup>rs</sup> and judges, as well ecclesiasticall as secular, of us, our heires & successors, or elsewhere wheresoever, of & in all & all manner of acc<sup>ns</sup> reall, psonall, or mixt suites, quarrells & demands whatsoever against them or by them to be psecuted. And further, of our like especiall grace, certeyne knowledge and meere mo<sup>on</sup>, by and with the advice and consent afores<sup>d</sup>, wee have given & granted, & by these psents, for us, our heires and successors, wee doe give & grant unto the said mayor, sherriffe, free burgessis & comonaltie of the said towne and county of our towne of Gallway, and their successors, that the mayor, sherriffe, free burgesses & comonaltie of our said towne and county of our towne of Gallway, & their successors for ever, shall & may have full power & authority to choose, send & returne, in as full and effectuell manner to all intents and purposes as formerly they did, or att any tyme heretofore have done, two discreete and fitt psons to serve and attend in every Parliament hereafter to bee held in our said kingdome of Ireland, and y<sup>e</sup> y<sup>e</sup> said psons soe elected, sent and returned, shall have full power & authoritie to treat & consult upon such things & matters as shall be to them their ppounded or declared, and thereupon freely give their votes & suffrages, & to doe & execute all other things whatsoever as fully & freely as any other burgesse of any ancient burrough in our said realme of Ireland or in our said realme of England in the Parliament there are wont to doe and execute. And to the intent that in tyme to come it may appeare that this new charter was granted unto honest & discreete men, wee doe by these psents make, nominate & constitute Theodorous Russell, esq<sup>r</sup>, to bee the first & moderne mayor of the said towne and county of the towne of Gallway, to continue in y<sup>e</sup> said office untill the feast of S<sup>t</sup> Michaell the Archangell, which shall bee in y<sup>e</sup> yeare of our Lord God one thousand six hundred seaventy-eight; and wee doe likewise by these psents make, nominate & constitute John Clerke & Richard Browne to bee the first & moderne sheriffs of the said towne and county of the towne of Galway, to continue in the said office untill the feast of S<sup>t</sup> Michaell the Archangell, which shall bee in y<sup>e</sup> yeare of our Lord God one thousand six hundred seaventy-eight; and likewise wee doe by these psents make, nominate and constitute S<sup>r</sup> Oliver S<sup>r</sup> George, barr<sup>r</sup>, S<sup>r</sup> James Cuffe & S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Newcomen, kn<sup>t</sup>, Vere Essex Cromwell, esq<sup>r</sup>, Richard Coote, esq<sup>r</sup>, S<sup>r</sup> Henry Waddington, kn<sup>t</sup>, Charles Holcroft, esq<sup>r</sup>, John Eyre, Edward Eyre, John Mayart & William Hamilton, esq<sup>r</sup>, George Hall, gent. & George Lessone, esq<sup>r</sup>, & such others as the mayor and sheriffes & the major pte of the free burgesses for the tyme beinge shall choose, to be the first & moderne free burgesses of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway, to continue in the said office of free burgesses during their respective lives, unlesse they shall in the mean tyme, for their misbehaviour or for any other reasonable cause, to be removed from the s<sup>d</sup> office or offices, and alsoe all such inhabitants of the said towne, & such & soe many others as the said mayor, sheriffes & free burgesses of the said towne and county of the towne of Gallway for the tyme being shall admitt into the freedome of the said towne, wee doe by these psents make, constitute and ordeyne to be the comonaltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and county of the towne of Gallway: and further, wee doe by these psents make, nominate & constitute William Sprigg, esq<sup>r</sup>, to be the recorder of the said towne of Gallway, and to continue in the said office untill the said feast of S<sup>t</sup> Michael the Archangell, which shall bee in the yeare one thousand six hundred seventy-eight; and Jerome Russell, gent<sup>e</sup>, to be towne clerke of our s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, & to continue likewise in the said office untill the said feast of S<sup>t</sup> Michael the Archangell in the said yeare one thous<sup>d</sup> six hundred seaventy-eight: and further wee will that the s<sup>d</sup> Theodorus Russell, whome wee have by these p<sup>s</sup>ents constituted mayor of y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of the towne of Gallway, & the s<sup>d</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Sprigg, whom wee have constituted recorder of the s<sup>d</sup> towne, shall, within one month after the date of these our l<sup>tes</sup> p<sup>at</sup>ents, come before Sir Henry Waddington, kn<sup>t</sup>, Charles Holcroft, esq<sup>r</sup>, now high sherriffe of the said county of Galway, & John Eyre, esquire, or any two of them, & in due manner take the oath of sup<sup>re</sup>macy established by Act of Parliam<sup>nt</sup> secundo Elizabetha, in our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland, and the oathe of allegiance, and alsoe this ensuing oath, viz<sup>t</sup>: " I, A. B., doe declare and believe that it is not lawfull upon any p<sup>te</sup>nce whatsoever to take up arms against the King, & y<sup>e</sup> I doe abhorre that trayterous posiceon of takeing armes by his authority against his p<sup>son</sup> or against those y<sup>e</sup> are commissioned by him; soe helpe mee God;" and shall likewise respectively take the severall oaths heretofore usually taken for the due execu<sup>ti</sup>on of the severall offices of mayor & recorder of the said towne and county of the towne * Gallway: & that the said John Clerke & Richard Browne, whome wee have by these p<sup>s</sup>ents constituted sheriffs of the said towne and county of the towne of Gallway, & their successors, & the said Jerrome Russell, whome wee have constituted towne clerke of our towne of Galway, & his successors, & the s<sup>d</sup> Sir Oliver S<sup>t</sup> George, Sir James Cuffe, S<sup>t</sup> Thomas Newcomen, Vere Essex Cromwell, Richard Coote, Sir Henry Waddington, Charles Holcroft, John Eyre, Edward Eyre, John Mayard, William Hamilton, George Hall & George Lessone, whome wee have made p<sup>s</sup>ent free burgesses of the said towne, as alsoe their successors in the place & places of free burgesses, at all tymes to come, before they be admitted to execute their respective offices, places or employments, and likewise all and every such p<sup>son</sup> and p<sup>sons</sup> as shall be of the comon counsell of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and burrough, as alsoe their successors in the place of comon counsell men at all tymes to come, before they be admitted into their respective offices, places & employ<sup>mt</sup>, shall severally & respectively take as well the severall oaths before p<sup>et</sup>icularly men<sup>ti</sup>oned, as alsoe the oaths heretofore usually taken for the due execution of their severall offices, places or employments, the said severall oaths to be administered by the mayor and recorder, or by the mayor and two of the burgesses of the said towne and county of the towne of Gallway, for the time being, whome wee doe by these p<sup>s</sup>ents authorize & require to administer the same in the tholsell or any other convenient place within the s<sup>d</sup> towne: & it is our further will & pleasure that the s<sup>d</sup> office & offices of mayor, recorder, sherriffe and towne clerke of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway bee for ever hereafter elective; and wee doe by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heirs and successors, give and grant unto the said mayor, sheriffs, free burgesses & comonaltie of the said towne of Galway, and their successors, that the said mayor, sheriffs and comon counsell of the said towne for y<sup>e</sup> time being, yearly, for ever, att the feast of St. Peeter ad vincula, comonly called Lammas day, from and after the five and twentieth day of March next ensuing, shall & may assemble themselves in the tholsell of the said towne, or any other convenient place within the said towne of Gallway, and being soe assembled may, or the greater p<sup>te</sup> of them, before the departe thence, may choose one of the discreetest free burgesses of the said towne to the office of mayor of the said towne, who being p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved & sworn in manner & forme as hereafter is expressed, may hold, exercise & enjoy the same for one whole yeare from the feast of St. Michael the Archangell then next following, and untill another of the said burgesses shall bee duly elected, p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved & sworn into the said office in manner as hereafter is set forth; and may alsoe then & there elect some discrete p<sup>son</sup>, learned in the laws, to bee recorder of the said towne, as alsoe some discreet p<sup>son</sup> to be towne clerke of the said towne; who being respectively p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved & sworne in manner and forme as hereafter is expressed, may hold exercise and enjoy the same for one whole year from the feast of St. Michael the Archangell then next following; & untill two others shal bee duely elected, p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved & sworn into the said offices respectively, in manner as hereafter is set forth. And wee doe further ordayne & appointe that it shall & may be lawfull for the mayor and recorder of the said towne for the tyme being respectively, in case of sickness, or any urgent or important occasion of their owne to be absent from the said towne, to appoint their respective deputies dureing such tyme of his and their sicknesse or absence from the said towne, who taking the severall oathes herein formerly appoynted to be taken by the mayor & recorder of the s<sup>d</sup> corporaçon respectively, shall & may execute the pleace & office of deputye mayor and deputy recorder of the said corporaçon in all things dureing the tyme of such mayor and recorder's sicknesse or absence respectively, as fully & amply, to all intents and purposes, as such sick or absent mayor or recorder might have done if he and they were well and psonally p<sup>s</sup>ent, such deputy mayor and deputy recorder respectively first taking all the severall oathes formerly mençoned to be taken by the mayor & recorder of the said towne, before the sheriffes of the said towne for the tyme being, and any three or more of the free burgesses of the said towne, whom wee doe hereby fully authorize and require to administer the same unto them respectively, on the Holy Evangelists; and our will & pleasure is, that the mayor & recorder of the said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, and their deputies for the tyme being respectively, shall be justices of the peace for the county of Gallway att large, during their continuance in their respective offices. And further, of our mere abundant grace, certayne knowledge and mere m<sup>o</sup>çon, by and with the advice and consent aforesaid, wee will, and by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heirs and successors, doe give and grant unto the said mayor, sheriffs, free burgesses and com<sup>o</sup>nalitie of the said towne and county of the said towne of Gallway, and their successors, that when & soe often as it shall happen that the mayor of the said towne of Gallway for the tyme being shall dye, or the said office shall become voyd, within the composse of one year after he shall be elected, p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved and sworn as aforesaid, that then & in such case it shall & may be lawfull to & for the sheriffs, free burgesses and com<sup>o</sup>mon councill of the said towne, and their successors, within fifteen days after such death or vacancies, to choose some other fit pson out of the number of the free burgesses to the office of mayor of the said towne; and y<sup>e</sup> such pson being soe elected and chosen, & takeing the severall oaths before mençoned before the sheriffs and any seaven or more of the free burgesses of the said towne for the tyme being, whome wee doe hereby authorize and require to administer the same on the Holy Evangelists, shall and may execute the said office of mayor of the said towne and county of the towne of Galway, until the feast of St. Michaell the Archangell next following such new elecc<sup>o</sup>n. And further, of our more abundant grace, certeyne knowledge and meere m<sup>o</sup>çon, by and with the advice and consent aforesaid, wee have given and granted, and by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heirs and successors, doe give and grant unto the said mayor, sheriffs, free burgesses, and com<sup>o</sup>nalitie of the said towne of Gallway, and their successors for ever, that the said mayor or sheriffe and com<sup>o</sup>mon council, and their successors for ever, shall have full power and authority from tyme to tyme every yeare, at the feast of Lammass, to choose and nominate two honest and discreete free burgesses of the said towne to be sheriffes of the county of the towne of Gallway aforesaid, to continue for one whole yeare from the feast of St. Michaell the Archangell then next following such ellecc<sup>o</sup>n inclusive; and that such psons soe elected, p<sup>s</sup>ented, approved and sworne in manner as hereafter is set forth, may take upon them the execu<sup>o</sup>n of the said office of sheriffe, and may hold, execute and enioy the said office of sheriffe of the said county of the towne of Gallway for one whole yeare from the feast of St. Michaell the Archangell then next following, and untill others shall be elected, presented, approved and sworne into the said office, in manner as hereafter is expressed; and that such sheriffe of the county of the said towne of Gallway shall and may have and exercise all and all manner of jurisdiction, powers, authorities, libties & other things whatsoever to the said office of sheriffe belonging or apperteyneing, within the said towne and county of the towne of Galway, and the limits, meares and bounds of the same, as other sheriffes of us, our heirs and successors, within our said kingdome of Ireland, have or ought to have within their baylywick; and that we, our heirs and successors, from tyme to tyme for ever hereafter shall and will direct and cause to be made to the sheriffe of the said county of the towne of Gallway for the tyme being, all and singular writts, bills, p<sup>r</sup>cepts, warrants, sommons, attachment, distresses, estreates & mandates of us, our heirs and successors, and the summons, attachment & distresses of the Exchequer of us, our heirs and successors, and other the courts of us, our heirs & successors, ariseing for any matter or thing within the said towne or county of the towne of Galway, or within the p<sup>r</sup>oints and lymits of the same, for the future, which ought to be directed to and executed by the sheriffe of

of the county of Gallway, if the said towne of Gallway and the p̄cints of the same were not made an enīre county of itselfe, soe that noe other sheriffe in our said said relme of Ireland, or bayliffe or servant of any sheriffe in our said realme of Ireland, except the sheriffes of us, our heires and successors, of the said county of the towne of Gallway, and their bayliffes, ministers or servants, shall for the future enter into the said town or p̄cints of the same, except as before is excepted, to exercise or execute any thing that belongs to the office of sheriffe, nor shall any way intermeddle therein. And wee doe hereby further will, institute, and ordeyne, and our royall will and pleasure is, that upon all ellac̄cōns to bee hereafter made after the five and twentyeth day of March next, of any pson or psons to serve in any of the offices of mayor, sheriffes, recorder or towne clerke of the said corporac̄on, the names of the psons soe elected to serve in the said severall offices shall bee by the said corporac̄on forthwith p̄sented to our Liev' or other chiefe gōvnor or gōvnors & the privy counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland, to be approved of by them, and y<sup>e</sup> the said psons soe elected for any the said offices shall bee for ever hereafter incapable of serveing in the said severall offices, or any of them, untill they shall be respectably approved of by the Lord Liev' or other chiefe gōvnor or gōvnors and the privy counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland, by order under their hands; and in case the psons, or any of them, whose names shall be so p̄sented to our Liev' or other our chiefe governor or governors & counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland, shall not be soe approved of within tenn dayes after their names shall be soe p̄sented, then and in such case the said corporac̄on shall from tyme to tyme p̄ceed to a new ellec̄cōn of fitt psons for the said respective offices for which the psons soe presented shall not bee so approved of, and shall in like manner p̄sent their names to y<sup>e</sup> said Liev' or other chiefe gōvnor or gōvnors & counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland, untill they shall have chosen such psons for the said respective offices as shall be soe approved of as aforesaid; p̄vided alwise that this shall not extend to the ellec̄cōn of any persons that shall be elected in the place of any of the said officers annuallly chosen who shall dye within the yeare of their execūcōn of the said respective offices, or within one month before they are to enter upon the execūcōn thereof; and our further will and pleasure is, that noe pson shall be hereafter chosen warden of the said towne of Gallway but such pson as shall be nominated to the said office by our Liev' or other chiefe governor or governors of our said kingdome of Ireland for the tyme being. And our further will and pleasure is, and wee doe alsoe hereby declare and ordeyne, that noe pson or psons that shall hereafter be elected either mayor, recorder, sheriffes, alderman, towne clerke, free burgesse, or one of the common counsell within the said towne or corporac̄on, or master or wardens of any corporac̄on, guild or fraternity, within the said towne or corporac̄on, shall be capable of holding, enioying or executing any the said offices, places or imployments untill he or they shall have taken the oath of sup̄macie established by Act of Parliament, secundo Elizabetha, in this kingdome, and the oath of allegiance, besides the oath usually taken upon the admissions of any psons in the said respective offices or imploym<sup>t</sup>, and also this ensuing oath, viz<sup>t</sup>: "I, A. B., doe declare and believe that it is not lawfull upon any p̄tence whatsoever to take armes against the King, and that I doe abhor that trayterous position of taking armes by his authority against his pson, or against those that are commissioned by him; soe helpe mee God;" the said oathes to be taken before such pson or psons as shall admitt them to the said severall offices, places and imployments, who are hereby impowered, authorized and required to administer to them the said oathes; and upon any such pson or psons refusal to take the said oathes, the ellec̄cōn of any such pson or psons into any of the said offices, places or imploym<sup>t</sup>, is hereby declared to be absolutely null and voyd, such psons onely excepted with whose takeing the said oathe of sup̄macie our Liev' or other chiefe gōvnor or gōvnors of our said kingdome of Ireland for the tyme being, for some p̄ticular reasons, shall think fitt, by writeing under his or their hands, by name, to dispense: and for the avoydeing of such tumults and disorders wherewith populer elec̄cōns of magistrates and other officers are often attended, wee doe hereby further order and direct that for ever here after the mayor, sheriffs, recorder, town clerke, & all other officers of the said towne of Galway, shall bee elected and chosen onely by the mayor, sheriffs and com̄on counsell of the said towne, or the greater number of the votes of such of the com̄on counsell of the said towne as shall be p̄sent on the dayes whereon such ellec̄cōns are or ought to be usually made; and y<sup>e</sup> noe freeman of the said towne or other pson who shall bee not of the com̄on councell of the said towne, shall att any tyme hereafter have any vote in eleccōn of any mayor, sheriffs, recorder or towne clerke, or other officers in the said towne of Galway, and that noe matter or thing in any wise relateing to the affairs of the said towne shall be hereafter ppounded or debated in the tholsell or generall assembly of the said towne until the same shall have first passed the comon councell of the said towne, and that the psons offending ags<sup>t</sup> this rule shall be disfranchised by the mayor & comon coun<sup>t</sup> of the said towne, any lawe, usage or custome of the s<sup>d</sup> towne to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding. And further we will and ordeyne, and the said mayor, sheriffs, burgesses & comonaltie, for themselves and their successors, doe accordingly covenant & grant to and with us, our heirs and successors, that all foreigners, strangers and aliens, as well others as ptestant, who are or shall bee merchants, traders, artizans, artificers, seamen, or otherwise skilled and exercised in any mystery, craft or trade, or in the workeing or makeing any manufacture, or in the art of navigacōn, who are att p<sup>r</sup>sent resideing and inhabiting within the said towne of Gallway, or who shall att any tyme hereafter come into the said towne of Gallway with intent and resolu<sup>c</sup>ōn there to inhabit, reside & dwell, shall, upon his or their reasonable suit or request made, and upon payment downe or tender of twenty shillings by way of fine into the chiefe magistrate or magistrates & comon councell, or other psons authorized to admitt and make freemen of the said towne of Gallway, bee admitted a freeman of our said towne of Gallway, and if he or they shall desire it, of all or any guild brotherhood, society or fellowship of any trade, craft or misterie within the same, dureing his or their residence for the most pte, and his and their families constant inhabiting within our said towne of Gallway, and noe longer, and shall have, exercise & enjoy all priviledges and imunities of trading, workeing, buying and selling in as large and ample manner as any freeman of the said towne of Gallway might have, exercise or enioy by virtue of his or their freedome, and y<sup>t</sup> every such person or persons who shall be admitted to be free as afores<sup>d</sup> that from henceforth bee deemed, esteemed and taken and bee denizon and denizons within this kingdome, any law, statute, charter, usage or custome of this kingdome, or of any cittie, walled towne or corporacōn of the same, to the contrary in any wise notwithst<sup>d</sup>; provided alwise, that all such strangers, artificers and others to bee admitted freemen as afores<sup>d</sup> shall take the oath of allegiance, and alsoe such other oathes as are accustomably taken by all or any freeman or members of the said towne of Gallway, or by all or any the members of any such guild or brotherhood, society or fellowship of the trade, craft or other mistery which hee or they shall occupie or exercise, in case he or they shall desire to be incorporate into any such guild, brotherhood, society or fellowship afores<sup>d</sup>, and shall pay all such & like charges as all freemen or subiects of the like trade, craft or mistery shall and doe use to pay, and noe other nor more; and iff the cheife magistrate or magistrates, or other persons authorized as aforesaid, of the said towne of Gallway, or any master, warden or other governor of any brotherhood, society or fellowship, or any trade, craft or mistery within the said towne of Gallway, shall refuse to admit any such stranger, being a merchant, trader, artificer, artizan, workeman or seaman, resideing or comeing into our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland with intent as afores<sup>d</sup> to bee a freeman of our said towne of Gallway, or to be a brother or member of any brotherhood, society or fellowship within the same, every such chiefe magistrate and magistrates, masters, wardens or other governors respectively, shall, upon complainte and due prooffe made of such refusal before our Lieu<sup>t</sup> or other chief governor or governors and coun<sup>t</sup> of our said kingdome of Ireland, bee by their order disfranchised, and from thenceforth incapable without their lycence of being a freeman or member of the said towne; and every such stranger, being a merchant, trader, artificer, artizan, workeman or seaman, upon tender by him made of twenty shill<sup>l</sup> by way of ffynes as afores<sup>d</sup>, and taking the oath of allegiance before any justice of the peace of the county of Gallway, who is hereby authorized & appoynted to administer the said oath, shall thereupon by virtue hereof be deemed, reputed and taken to all intents and purposes to bee a freeman or member of our said towne of Gallway, and of the said brotherhood, society or fellowship of any trade, craft or misterie, where he or they shall be denyed admission as afores<sup>d</sup>, & from thenceforth have, exercise and enjoy the libtie or privilege of trading, working, buying or selling of any comodities where-soever, in as large and ample manner as if he had been admitted a freeman of our said county of Gallway, a brother or member of such brotherhood, society or fellowship of any trade, craft or mistery within the same, taking the usual oaths of such freeman, brothers or members, which oaths any justice of peace of our said county of Gallway is by these p<sup>s</sup>ents impowered to administer, & paying all such charges as afores<sup>d</sup>, any lawe, custome, charter or usage to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding<sup>e</sup>; and in case any p<sup>s</sup>on or p<sup>s</sup>ons shall give any interrup<sup>c</sup>ō or disturbance to any such stranger, being a merchant, trader, artificer, artizan, workman or seaman as afores<sup>d</sup>, to the hindering of him in his trading, working, buying or selling as aforesaid, contrary to the intent and meaning of these presents, all and every such person or persons soe offending shall, upon like complainte and prooffe made of his or their offence therein, before our Lieu<sup>t</sup> or other chiefe governor or gov<sup>r</sup>ns and counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland for the time being, be by their order disfranchised, and from thenceforth incapable without their lycense of being made a freeman or member of our said towne of Gallway. And fur<sup>r</sup>, of our more abundant grace, certeyne knowlege and meere mo<sup>c</sup>ōn, by and with the advice and consent afores<sup>d</sup>, we have given and granted, and by these presents, for us, our heirs and succ<sup>r</sup>, doe give and grant unto the mayor, sheriffes, free burgesses and com<sup>m</sup>onaltie of the said towne and county of the towne of Galway, and theire succ<sup>r</sup> for ever, that there be within the said county and towne and county of the towne of Galway, and the franchises of the same, one guild of merchants of the staple, consisting of one mayor, two constables, and of such a number of merchants of the said towne as y<sup>e</sup> said mayor and constables of the said guild of merchants of the staple for the tyme being shall thinke fitt; and therefore wee will, and by this our charte<sup>e</sup> * wee doe, for us, our heires & successors, * Sic. make, constitute and ordeyne Charles Holcroft, esq<sup>r</sup>, mayor of the said guild of merchants of the staple of the said towne of Gallway, to continue from the date of these our lres patent to the feast of St. Michael the Archangell, which shall bee in the said yeare of our Lord God one thousand six hundred seventy-eight, and also wee doe by these p<sup>s</sup>ents make, constitute and ordeyne John Flower & Thomas Poole constables of the same guild of merchants of the staple of the said towne of Gallway, to continue untill the said feast of St. Michael the Archangell, which shall bee in the said yeare of our Lord God one thousand six hundred seventy-eight; and that after the s<sup>d</sup> feast of St. Michael the Archangell, in the s<sup>d</sup> yeare one thousand six hundred seventy-eight, the mayor & constables of the s<sup>d</sup> guild of merchants of the staple bee yearly ordeyned in manner following (that is to say), the mayor of the said towne of Gallway for the p<sup>r</sup>ceding yeare shall bee and is hereby appoynted to bee mayor of the said guild of merchants of the staple for one year then next following and noe longer, and the sheriffes of the said towne for the p<sup>r</sup>ceding yeare shall bee and are hereby appointed to be constables of the said guild of merchants for one yeare then next following & noe longer; and y<sup>e</sup> y<sup>e</sup> mayor & constables, or mayor & one constable, of the said guild of merchants of the staple of the said towne for the tyme being for ever shall have full & absolute power & authority from tyme to tyme to take & receive all & singular statutes & recognizances of the staple taken or to bee taken in or within the said towne or burrough, and thereupon to certifie y<sup>e</sup> same unto our high court of Chancery in our said realme of Ireland, & further to doe, use & execute all & singular other matters & things which do any wise belong or apperteyne to the office of mayor and constables of the guild of merchants of the staple, according to the forme of the statute in that case made & p<sup>r</sup>vided, in as ample manner & forme as the mayor & constables of the staple in our cittie of Waterford, or in any other towne or cittie within our realme of Ireland, doe use or execute, or heretofore might or could doe or execute in any wise. And further, of our more ample grace, certeyne knowlege & meere mo<sup>c</sup>ōn, by and with the advice and consent aforesaid, wee will, and by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heires & successors, doe grant unto the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and com<sup>m</sup>onaltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of the towne of Gallway; and their successors, that they & theire successors for ever shall and may have & use such severall vestments, ensignes & ornaments within the s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of the s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, & the franchises of the same, for the honor and dignity of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and county of the said towne of Gallway, and the mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>m</sup>onaltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne, as y<sup>e</sup> mayor, sherriffs, burgesses & com<sup>m</sup>onaltie of the towne of Gallway had or used, or might or could have had or used within the s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, att any tyme before the s<sup>d</sup> three & twentyeth day of October, which was in the s<sup>d</sup> yeare of our Lord one thousand six hundred forty-one; and y<sup>e</sup> y<sup>e</sup> mayor of the said towne of Gallway for the tyme being may have a sword borne before him in all places within the towne and county of the s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, & the franchises of the same, for the greater eminence of the mayoraltye or office of mayor of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and the authoritye thereto belonging; and to this end wee will, and by these p<sup>s</sup>ents doe grant that the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and county of the towne of Gallway, & their successors from tyme to tyme for ever, may constitute & have one officer or sword bearer to carry the sword before the mayor of the s<sup>d</sup> towne for the tyme being in manner & forme aforesaid. And further, wee will, & by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heires & successors, doe grant unto the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of the said towne & county of y<sup>e</sup> towne of Galway, & their successors, that they & their successors shall & may have for ever hereafter, within the said towne of Gallway, or the libties & p<sup>o</sup>incts of the same, one house of com<sup>o</sup>n meeting or convoca<sup>o</sup>n, which shall bee & shall be called the Tholsell of the towne of Galway aforesaid; & y<sup>t</sup> it shall & may bee lawfull to & for the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and com<sup>o</sup>naltie, & their successors, and to and for the recorder of the said towne for the tyme being, or the maior pte of them, from tyme to tyme or att all times for ever hereafter, so often as to them or the maior pte of them shall seeme meete or requisite, to meete or assemble themselves in the aforesaid house called the Thollsell, or in any other convenient place within the said towne and libties and p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof; and y<sup>t</sup> the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses, recorder & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of the said towne, or the maior pte of them soe assembled, whereof the said mayor & recorder of the aforesaid towne of Gallway for the tyme being to bee two, may & shall have full power and authority from tyme to tyme then and there to ordeyne, make, constitute and establish such reasonable lawes, statutes, constitu<sup>o</sup>ns, decrees and ordinances whatsoever, as they or the maior pte of them shall in their discreceons see good, wholesome, honest, pfitable & necessary, as well for the good rule & governm<sup>t</sup> of our said towne & county of our towne of Gallway & the libties & p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof, & of all & singuler the officers, members & ministers of the said towne, the libties and p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof, as alsoe for the declareing, setting downe and appoynteing in what order, manner and forme the said mayor, sherriffes, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie, and all other the officers & ministers of our said towne and county of our towne of Gallway, the libties & p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof, shall and may from tyme to tyme demeane and behave themselves in their severall and respective offices & imployments, and also for the com<sup>o</sup>n pfit, advantage of good governement of the said towne, the libties and p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof, as also for the better p<sup>s</sup>erving, governeing and disposing, placing, setting & letting of all or any the lands, tenements & hereditaments which in and by these p<sup>s</sup>ents or otherwise are or have beene given, granted, assigned or confirmed, or which att any time hereafter shall be given, granted, assigned and confirmed to the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sheriffe, free bergesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of our said towne and county of our towne of Gallway, as also for the better ordering, governeing & disposing of all and singuler other matters, causes & things whatsoever touching or concerning the estate, right or interest of the said towne of Gallway, the libties & p<sup>o</sup>incts thereof; and y<sup>t</sup> it shall and may bee lawfull to & for the said mayor, sherriffe, free burgesses, recorder & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of our said towne and county of our towne of Gallway for the tyme being, or the maior pte of them, whereof the s<sup>d</sup> mayor and recorder of the said towne for the tyme being to be two, at such tyme & tymes, and soe often as they or the maior pte of them shall thinke fitt, to make, ordeyne & establishe such lawes, statutes or ordinances as aforesaid, & impose & sesse upon all & every pson & psons that shall offend ags<sup>t</sup> the s<sup>d</sup> lawes, statutes and ordinances, or any of them, such reasonable paines, penalties & punishments as to the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses, recorder & com<sup>o</sup>naltie for the tyme beinge, or the maior pte of them as aforesaid, shall seeme requisite & expedient in that behalfe; all & singuler which s<sup>d</sup> lawes, statutes and ordinances soe to be made, constituted and ordeyned as aforesaid, wee will and com<sup>o</sup>mand to bee observed, obeyed & pformed under the paines, penalties & punishments therein to be conteyned as aforesaid, provided that the said lawes, statutes, ordinances, paynes, penalties and punishments be reasonable, & not repugnant nor contrary, but agreeable to the lawes, statutes, customes, rights & usages of our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland, and unto the rules, orders & direc<sup>o</sup>ns made & established by our Leiv<sup>t</sup> and counsell of our said kingdome of Ireland, beareing date the three and twentieth day of September, in the yeare one thousand six hundred seaventy-two, for the better regulateing of the s<sup>d</sup> corpera<sup>o</sup>n of our s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, & the electing of magistrates & officeres there. And wee further will, & by these p<sup>s</sup>ents, for us, our heires or successors, doe grant to the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffes, free burgesses burgesses & comonaltie of our said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, & their successors, that they or their successors shall & may for ever hereafter have holde & keepe, in the tholsell of our s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, or in any other convenient place within the said towne, the libties & pcincts thereof, a weekly court of record, on every Tuesday & Ffryday in the weeke, before the mayor, or his deputy, & the recorder of the said towne for the tyme being, or his deputy, and y<sup>e</sup> in the s<sup>d</sup> court they may hold and have cognizance of all and all manner of pleas and accōns upon the case, deceits, debts, accounts, covenants, detinues & trespasses, takeing & deteyning of goods & chattells and other contracts whatsoever for any causes matters or things whatsoever arising happening or growing within our said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, y<sup>e</sup> libties & pcincts thereof; and our further will & pleasure is, and wee doe by these psents, for us our heires & successors, grant, restore, ratifie & confirme to the afores<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & comonaltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne and county of the towne of Gallway, and their successors, for ever, all the mannors, messuages, houses, chantries, lands, tenements, wates, wast ground, comons, pastures, purpresures, reversions, rents, services & hereditam<sup>ts</sup> whatsoever, which in & upon the two-and-twentyeth day of October, in the yeare of our Lord one thousand six hundred forty-one, were lawfully held possessed or enioyed by the mayor, sherriffes, free burgesses & comonaltie of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway, in their politique capacity, and alsoe all and all manner & such & the same libties, franchises, free customes, imunities, usages, exempcons, easements, jurisdictiones, faires, marketts, courts of py-pouder, weyrs, fishings, waters, weyes, wharfes, keyes, customes, tolls, piccage, stallage, passage, pontage, paveage, goods & chatles, wayved, straves, treasure, irone, pfitts, comodities, advantages, benefitts, emoluments, libties, powers, authorities, priviledges, dueties, rights & hereditaments, lawfully had, held, used, received, possessed & enioyed by the mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and comonaltie of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway, in or upon the said two-&twentieth day of October, in the the yeare of Lord God one thousand six hundred forty-one, by force and vertue of any charters or letters pattents heretofore made granted or confirmed by any of our royall pdecessors late kings & queens of England, by whatsoever name or names, or by whatsoever incorporacon they have beene incorporated or knowne, or by force and vertue of any lawfull right, title or adquisicon, purchase, usage, custome, pcription, or other lawfull means whatsoever, although they or any of them have beene abused, disused or discontinued; wherefore wee will, & by these psents for us our heires and successors doe, strictly enioyne & comānd that the mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and comonaltie of the said towne and county of the towne of Gallway, and their successors, for ever, shall & may fully, freely and entirely have, hold, use and enjoy all the libties, free customes, priviledges, authorities, jurisdictiones, freedomes, mannors, messuages, chantries, lands, tenements, comons, pastures, fishings, weires & hereditaments aforesaid, according to the tenor, effect, true intent and meaning of these our tres pattents, without the lett, impeachment or hinderance of us, our heires or successors, or any of the officers or ministers of us our heires or successors whatsoever, willing that the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and comonaltie of the s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of the towne of Gallway, or their successors, or any of them, be not any time hereafter, impledged, molested, vexed, grieved, or any wise troubled for or by reason of the pmisses, or any of them, by us, our heires or successors, or the justices, sherriffes, eschaetors, bayliffs, coroners, or other officers or members whatsoever of us, our heirs or successors: Saveing neverthelesse to every pson & psons, their heirs & assignes, who have or clayme any lands, tenem<sup>u</sup> or hereditam<sup>u</sup> formerly belonging to the s<sup>d</sup> corpora<sup>o</sup>n of Gallway in their polittique capacity, by force & vertue of any tres pattents under the Greate Seale of Ireland, grounded on any certificates past by our late com<sup>m</sup> of our court of claymes sitting at Dublin, all such estate, right, title & interest as they, their heirs and assignes, have or ought to have, in lawe or equity, of in and unto such lands, tenements & hereditaments by force and vertue of such certificates & tres patents made unto them in manner as aforesaid: Saveing alsoe unto Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, the widow & relict of James Hamilton, Esq., one of the Groomes of the Bed-chamber, lately deceased, her heirs & assignes, all such estate, right, title & interest as shee and they have in & unto any the lands, tenem<sup>u</sup> and hereditam<sup>u</sup> formerly belonging unto the said corpora<sup>o</sup>n of Gallway, and which were lately granted by us unto the said Eliz<sup>a</sup>th, her heirs & assignes, by certeyne tres patents under our Greate Seale of Ireland, bearing date the fifth day of December, which was in the five-and-twentieth yeare of our reygne: Saveing alsoe unto Collonell Theodorus Russell, his heirs & assignes, all such estate, right, tytle & interest as to the said Theodorus Russell, as assignee to the said Elizabeth Hamilton, hath or ought to have, in law or equity, in & unto the dueties, customes, fees & pquisitts of the marketts of Gallway, together with the market-house there lately mortgaged by the corpora<sup>o</sup>n of Gallway to John Blake, Esquire, late Recorder of Gallway, for the sume of foure hundred pounds sterl<sup>e</sup>, & in and unto the charter & petty customes of Gallway, lately mortgaged by the said corpora<sup>o</sup>n unto Nicholas Blake & Gregory Lynch and others, for the sume of two thous<sup>d</sup> pounds sterl<sup>e</sup>, all which s<sup>d</sup> charter marketts petty dueties & customes were lately, amongst other things, granted by us unto the s<sup>d</sup> Elizabeth Hamilton, her heirs and assignes, in manner as aforesaid, and by her assigned, articulated & agreed to bee assigned unto the said Theodorus Russell, his heirs and assignes, for a greate and valuable considera<sup>o</sup>n layd out & paid by him for the same at the instance and desire of the said corpora<sup>o</sup>n; and therefore our will and pleasure is, & wee doe hereby ordeyne & appoynt, that the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of our s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of our towne of Gallway, doe accordingly, for themselves & their successors, covenant, pmissse, grant & agree to & with us, our heirs & successors, that neither they the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffes, free burgesses and com<sup>o</sup>naltie, nor their successors, nor any of them, nor any pson or psons whatsoever claymeing the pmissses, or any pte thereof, by from or under them, or any of them, or by and with their privity or procurem<sup>t</sup>, shall or will, by vertue of these psents or o<sup>r</sup>wise, demand, levye, collect or receive any of the charter marketts & petty dueties or customes aforesaid, or any of them, or wittingly or willingly interrupt, molest or disturb, or give any interrup<sup>o</sup>n or disturbance, att any tyme, unto the said Theodorus Russell, his heirs or assignes, or his or their agents & receivers, in levying, collecting and receaveing the afores<sup>d</sup> charter marketts & petty dueties & customes, & every of them, untill he & they shall have first levied, collected & received out of all & singuler the issues, pquisitts & pfitts which shall arise out of the s<sup>d</sup> charter markett & petty dueties & customes of the said towne of Gallway, to his & their owne use, the full & entire sume of two thousand five hundred pounds sterl<sup>e</sup> which hath beene expended by him in purchasing the said charter markett and petty dueties & customes from the said Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, in manner as aforesaid, and alsoe all such other sume & sumes of money as he the said Theodorus Russell shall, upon oath, account to have expended & layed out in and concerning the same, and untill the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of our s<sup>d</sup> towne & county of our towne of Gallway shall likewise have satisfied & payed unto the saide Theodorus Russell, either out of the issues & pfitts of the said charter marketts & petty dueties & customes aforesaid, or o<sup>r</sup>wise, the full sume of three hundred pounds ster<sup>e</sup>, over and above his disbursements, as a reasonable compensa<sup>o</sup>n of his greate paines & trouble undergone on the behalfe & for the good of that corpora<sup>o</sup>n, and from & after such satisfacc<sup>o</sup>n of the sumes aforesaid to the said Theodorus Russell, his heirs or assignes, the said charter markett & petty dueties and costomes of the said towne to remaine to the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses & com<sup>o</sup>naltie of the said towne, and their successors, to such uses whereunto the same were by any former charter of the said towne granted or designed: And our further will and pleasure is, and we doe hereby will & require our

Liev' Deputy, and every other our chiefe governor and governors of our s<sup>d</sup> realme of Ireland, and our Privy Councell there for the tyme being, that they & every of them doe take care that the s<sup>d</sup> mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and comonaltie of our s<sup>d</sup> towne of Gallway, and their successors, doe duely and truely observe, pforme, fulfill and keepe the severall articles and agreements by them made with us for satisfying the said Theodorus Russell in manner as aforesaid; and y<sup>e</sup> they pursue all fitting means for his securitie, and keepe him in the quiett and full possion of the said dueties and customes, either by an annuall electing of him into the office or place of mayor of the s<sup>d</sup> corporaçon in succession, untill he be satisfied all and singuler the aforesaid sumes and engeagmt<sup>s</sup>, or otherwise by such other reasonable & fitting wayes and meanes as they shall iudge to be most expedient and conducing to the ends & purposes aforesaid. And further, of oure more ample grace, certeyn knowledge, & meere moçon, by and with the advice and consent aforesaid, wee doe by these psents, for us, our heires & successors, grant unto the said mayor, sherriffes, free burgesses and comonaltie of the said towne & county of the towne of Gallway, and their successors, for ever, that these our tres patents, or the inrollment thereof, & every clause and article therein conteyned, shall be construed, interpreted & adiudged to the greatest advantage, benefitt & favor of the said mayor, sherriffs, free burgesses and comonaltie of our said towne & county of our towne of Gallway, and their successors, ags<sup>t</sup> us, our heires & successors, as well in all our courts in our said kingdome of Ireland as elsewhere where-soever, without any other confirmaçon, licence or tolleraçon hereafter to bee pcured or obteyned, notwithstanding any defect or defects whatsoever in these our tres pattents, or any other leaise<sup>s</sup>, matter or thing whatsoever to the contrary thereof, • Sic. although noe expresse mençon, &c.; and wee further will, &c. without fyne in our hanap<sup>s</sup>, &c.; pvided alwaies, that these our tres patents be inrolled in the Rolls of our high court of Chancery, in our said kingdome of Ireland, within the space of six months next ensueing the date of these psents, any statute, &c. In witnesse whereof we have caused these our tres to be made pattent. Witnesse our aforesaid Liev' Generall & Generall Governor of our s<sup>d</sup> kingdome of Ireland at Dublin, the fourteenth day of August, in the nine-&-twentieth yeare of our reygne.

This column is disposed of, under an impression that the inquiry as to the sums re-presented refers to the previous inquiries as to the defalcations of the treasurer, the sums lost or recovered; and calls for information as to the sums re-presented to make good such defalcation or loss, and in this county there have not been any sums so re-presented. All presentments remaining unaccounted for, after the lapse of two years, are re-presented for other purposes at each assizes.

THE balances above stated to be in the treasurer's hands on the first days of each assizes, include the levies of the preceding assizes just then paid in to him, and to be withdrawn from him after the termination of that assizes, in discharge of all the sums accounted for, and the various miscellaneous claims on the county. The balances stated to be in his hands on the last days of each assizes, are assumed on a diligent reference to his books, but it is utterly impossible for the treasurer of this county to furnish a precise statement of the sums that may rest with him on the last day of any assizes, for his payments, although in progress, can have been but partial. Some days must elapse before he can be furnished with a return of the discharged queries by the clerk of the Crown; and a considerable portion of the demands on this county are not called for for a considerable time after, the vouchers for them passing as bank notes from hand to hand, and coming in to the treasurer at various times between one assizes and another. A greater amount of queries are usually discharged at the accounting sessions in October than at either of the assizes, and those are not all called for generally for a month after. In this county there is an office open the whole year for transacting the business of the treasurer's department, and much disappointment and inconvenience would be felt by the public if it was not so. Respited queries are quite distinct from undischarged queries.

1st December 1830.

James Delacour,
Treasurer Co. Cork.

Names of Securities, joined with Treasurer.
There are not any spring or summer assizes in the county Dublin. But the treasurer never has any balance in his hands, as he is bound by affidavit, under the County Dublin Act, viz. the 26 Geo. 3. c. 64, to lodge all sums collected or received in the Bank of Ireland, whenever it amounts to 100 l. , and he always directs the collector to lodge the money as collected in the Bank of Ireland, and bring him the Bank receipt, so that the treasurer never touches the money, and it cannot be drawn out of the Bank but by drafts drawn and signed by the inspector and by the foreman of the grand jury.	- the Query Book of the county Dublin is kept by the clerk of the Crown, and does not come before the treasurer; but the treasurer is of opinion there are not any respited queries thereon.	not any -	£. s. d. 4,690 19 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ This sum is principally owing to insolvencies under the house-tax, from houses falling down and tenants becoming insolvent, and there being no power to re-present these sums.	£. s. d. 34 19 1	£. s. d. 158 5 6	- George Woods, of Milverton, in the county of Dublin, esq., and Henry Baker, of Malahow, in said county, esq. John Straton, Treasurer County Louth.

COUNTY OF MAYO.

ASSIZES.	Balance on First Day of each Assizes.		Balances on Last Day of each Spring Assizes, or Last Day of each October Sessions.		OBSERVATIONS.
Summer - 1820	1,612	3 11	1,612	3 11	The treasurers of this county had never been debited with the current cess payable to them during the assizes, until summer 1823, the high constables having by law to the second day of each assizes to clear up their accounts. However, on a change of that part of the Act, the treasurer has since charged himself with the entire amount of each levy, on the first day of every assizes from that period.

THE grand juries of this county require that the Query Books should be printed within one month of each assizes; consequently the presentments discharged and paid in October remain on the summer Query Book as an apparent debt against the treasurer until the following spring assizes. From the adoption of this plan, the greatest amount of respited queries within the foregoing period, has come to the sum of 16,437*l.* os. 2*d.* This, however, includes the presentments discharged and paid at the ensuing October sessions, and gives a very unjust idea of the treasurer's balance. It might also lead any person unacquainted with this circumstance to suppose the unpaid queries did amount to so large a sum as I have just stated. The real average of respited queries varies from 4,000*l.* to 7,000*l.* It would be most desirable that the Query Book should not be published after every summer assizes, until the presentments discharged in October could be left off. This arrangement could not affect the county, as the old Query Book would equally answer all accounting purposes at the October sessions; for the grants of the summer cess just imposed being the only addition to the new Query Book, could not be demanded from the treasurer in October, as they are not payable to him till the following spring assizes.

No defalcation has taken place in the treasurer's office since the year 1793. My father was appointed at that time, and I succeeded him in the year 1811. I am not aware of any default, even prior to that period.

In August 1817, George Ormsby, of Gortner Abbey in this county,	£.	s.	d.
became my security in the sum of - - - - -	9,000	-	-
Thomas Orme, of Abbey Town in said county, in a like sum of -	9,000	-	-
And I entered into recognizance, at the same period, in the sum of	18,000	-	-
	£.	36,000	- -

The above recognizance was lodged in the Chief Remembrancer's office, in the Court of Exchequer, on the 30th of September 1817. In pursuance of 4 Geo. 4, c. 33, all necessary papers connected with this security were laid before Lord Plunket, the then attorney-general; and on the 18th of December 1823 he gave his opinion, approving of the validity of the security.

From an erroneous idea that it was necessary, I entered into an annual recognizance, with two sureties in very large sums, prior to 1817. These securities are also registered, and are valid.

* Late currency ends with this date.

(a) The balance in Treasurer's hands on the last day of each Assizes is less than that on the first day of same Assizes, only by the amount paid to orders of Court and Coroner, as the payment of the public money does not commence till after the last day of each Assizes.

(b) These sums were presented to meet a deficiency of Blayney Owen Mitchell, the then late treasurer; which deficiency, as well as his death, occurred before the commencement of this period; and in consequence of the delay in the sale of his estate, &c. the county advanced these sums to be repaid on the sale being effected.

(c) These sums were recovered from the sale of the estate, &c. of the abovementioned Blayney Owen Mitchell, and being more than the sums advanced by the county, see (b) prevented any loss.

The security of Skeffington Hamilton, esq. late treasurer, who died on the 1st October 1830, was given to the amount of 7,000 l. late currency; viz. himself in the sum of 3,000 l.; Rev. * THE form of the treasurer's account was altered at and after summer assizes, 1823, for, to the balance as before, he was debited with the cess then paying in; he therefore has a debit against him for an entire year, whilst he can only take credit for a half year's assessment; namely, the presentment monies paid at and after the last assizes; wherefore, on auditing his accounts, the balance appearing thereon is the fund from which he is at the time paying the presentments due at the conclusion of that assizes, so that in a very few days this balance decreases to an amount proportionate to the respited queries, or it may happen less, should there be any default in the payment of the cess.

SUMMARY of the VALUATION of Dublin, 1830 ; made in pursuance of the Act of the 5th Geo. IV, c. 118

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 25 March 1831.

---

SIR,

New Valuation of Dublin Office,
39, Dorset-street, 18th June 1830.

THE Commissioners for the New Valuation of Dublin have the honour to transmit herewith, for the information of His Grace the Lord Lieutenant, their Report of the Valuation of the City, as directed by the Act of the 5th of Geo. IV, c. 118, comprising such houses within the Circular Road as were occupied or tenantable to the 20th October 1828.

The Commissioners have to observe, that the following Public Edifices are not included ; viz.—

Trinity College,
Bank of Ireland,
Royal Exchange,
Linen Hall,
King's Inns ;

these being all structures of great extent, and in character essentially different from private dwellings or premises, and, with exception of the Bank (which pays 41 l. 0*s.* 6*d.*) being exempt from Minister's-money, are submitted for special consideration.

They wish further to remark, that the several houses on the east side of Great Ship-street, and in Stephen-street, which heretofore were private property, and subject to Minister's-money, being now in possession of His Majesty's Ordnance, are also omitted in this Valuation.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

George Hatchell,

Sec<sup>y</sup> to the Commissioners.

William Gregory, Esq. &c. &c. &c.
Dublin Castle.

WICKLOW UNION.

COPY of the REPORT made in 1830, by the Archbishop of Dublin, to the Duke of Northumberland and Privy Council in Ireland, respecting the Union of the Parish of Wicklow.

TO HIS GRACE HUGH DUKE OF NORTHUMBERLAND,
LORD LIEUTENANT GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND, IN COUNCIL.

WE, WILLIAM by Divine Providence Lord Archbishop of Dublin, Primate and Metropolitan of Ireland, and Bishop of Glandelagh, beg leave, in pursuance of the Act of the seventh and eighth years of His present Majesty's reign, chapter forty-three and twenty-one, to report to your Grace in Council, That we have made an Order for uniting episcopally the Vicarage of Wicklow and the Rectory and Vicarage of Drumkea and the Vicarage of Kilpole, with their appurtenances, in our Dioceses of Dublin and Glandelagh, or one of them, for the reasons following:—That the said parishes are contiguous, and have been episcopally united for the last two hundred years and upwards. That the yearly income to the incumbent from the same will be as follows:—from the said parish of Wicklow, seven hundred and eighty-seven pounds or thereabouts; from the said parish of Drumkea, sixty-three pounds or thereabouts; and from the said parish of Kilpole, fifty-nine pounds or thereabouts; making together nine hundred and nine pounds, which we consider not an unreasonable provision for the incumbent who should reside and provide for the cures of two chapels of ease within the said parish of Wicklow already built, besides the parish church of Wicklow. That the parish of Wicklow contains about fourteen thousand nine hundred acres or thereabouts; the parish of Kilpole, about one thousand five hundred acres; the parish of Drumkea, about seven hundred and eighty acres; and the whole union is reputed to be about seventeen thousand two hundred acres; but that a very great proportion of the said parish of Wicklow consists of mountains, and marsh and woodlands, and barren heath of very considerable extent and little population. That there is a church in the said parish of Wicklow, which with its chapels of ease are sufficiently commodious and conveniently situated for the parishioners of the whole of the said union to resort to for Divine Service; and that the most remote part of the said parishes of Drumkea and Kilpole respectively is not more than about a mile from the said church of Wicklow but there is no church or chapel of ease in either of the said parishes of Drumkea or Kilpole. That there are three small houses now inhabited by tenants in the parish of Wicklow, belonging to the vicar of Wicklow, and four acres, three roods and three perches of glebe land, in the parish of Drumkea, belonging to the incumbent of Drumkea, and a glebe of three and a half acres belonging to the curate or chaplain of Glanely, one of the said chapels of ease in the said parish of Wicklow, on which a glebe-house has been erected, and now inhabited by the chaplain or curate of Glanely, but no glebe-house in the parish of Wicklow, unless one of the small tenements above mentioned can be considered as such, or in the said parish of Drumkea or Kilpole. That neither the said rectory and vicarage of Drumkea, which contains but about seven hundred and eighty-seven acres, or the said vicarage of Kilpole, two thirds of the great tithes whereof are impropriate, are, taken singly, of sufficient yearly value to maintain a resident incumbent; and that they could hardly be of sufficient yearly value, if united to each other, to support a resident incumbent. But it appears to us, that there is a legal obstacle to such last-mentioned union of the said benefices of Drumkea and Kilpole only, without Wicklow, inasmuch as the said parishes of Drumkea and Kilpole are not contiguous to each other, though they are so to the said parish of Wicklow, a part whereof lies between the said parishes of Drumkea and Kilpole, and separates them from each other, at the same time that it connects each of them with the said parish of Wicklow. That, on the whole, we consider an episcopal union of the said parishes of Drumkea and Kilpole with the parish of Wicklow to be proper and convenient, which we submit to your Grace accordingly. In testimony whereof we have hereunto signed our name, and caused our archiepiscopal seal to be affixed, the Twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty.

(L. S.) W. DUBLIN.

True Copy of the original Report, received at the Council-office on the 22d of February 1830, and prepared in pursuance of an Order of The House of Commons of the 17th of February 1831.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE MARQUESS OF ANGLESEY,
Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland.

May it please Your Excellency,

WE, the undersigned inhabitants of the Union of Wicklow, beg leave to approach Your Excellency with the following statement of facts, and supplication for redress.

The Union of Wicklow became vacant on the 6th of January 1830, by the death of Doctor Dealtry, and according to the well known wish of Government, and the best interests of the Established Church, the Archbishop of Dublin signified his intention of dividing the Union, by instituting a correspondence and interviews with the Reverend Doctor Fletcher, who supplied him with maps, valuations and divisions of said Union, which proved it to contain above 32 square Irish miles, and above 22,000 Irish acres of the most peaceable country in Ireland. The Archbishop gave Doctor Fletcher every reason to suppose that he would appoint him to the parish of Killiskey, of which he had been curate for twelve years, for a number of which years he received no salary whatever, and for the remainder only about half of a curate's salary. He intimated to him that he would make use of his documents with a view to a separation, and hoped that he would get what he could for Killiskey; desired him to take no further trouble until he again wrote to him, which would be after the usual period of such matters lying before the Privy Council; but it appears, from the Archbishop's statement to the Privy Council, dated after these communications with Doctor Fletcher, that His Grace changed his mind with respect to him, and laid before Government a statement diametrically opposed to truth and fact, as will appear from the following:

1st, The Archbishop states the Union to contain only 17,000 acres, whereas the best possible map, then in his possession, proves it to contain above 22,000 Irish acres.

2dly, The Archbishop states the Union to consist of only three parishes, viz. Drumkey, Kilpoole, and Wicklow, whereas it contains six parishes, of which Drumkey and Kilpoole are the least considerable, and the parish of Wicklow never existed; and the Archbishop was at the time in possession of a statement from the Sequestrator containing all the names of the several parishes, with their value, constituting what is commonly called the Union of Wicklow.

3dly, The Archbishop states the Union will be worth 909 l., whereas Doctor Fletcher's valuation was 1,500 l.; and the Archbishop's son has since declared that he will not compound for a less sum than 1,600 l. a year, exclusive of the glebe lands, which are worth upwards of 200 l. per annum: and even the Sequestrator's valuation was upwards of 1,200 l. a year.

4thly, The Archbishop states that the glebe lands are only eight acres one rood and three perches, whereas they amount to above 50 Irish acres: and the Archbishop states further, that there are but three small houses, whereas there are fourteen houses on the glebe premises, one of which pays 30 l. a year.

5thly, The Archbishop states that a very great proportion of the Union consists of mountain and marsh, woodlands and barren heath, and with little population, whereas whereas the proportion of such land is comparatively small, and the population unusually great.

6thly, The Archbishop states that the parishes of Drumkey and Kilpoole are not contiguous, whereas they do join, and there is no such parish as Wicklow intervening; and he also states that they would not be sufficient to maintain a clergyman, as a reason for adding the remainder of the Union, which contains four other parishes, the names of which he did not state before the Privy Council, although they are the largest and most valuable of the Union, and have no improper tithes whatever, and for three of which unnamed parishes his son has already refused above 1,000 l. per annum, under the Composition Act. He also states that Killiskey or Glenely are only chapels of ease, whereas his son refused 350 l. as a distinct parish for the former, which has had an independent vestry, &c., ever since the church was built; and he has agreed to compound with the latter for 330 l. per annum.

7thly, Because Archdeacon Magee is making exorbitant demands for tithes upon a Union, which he only obtained by his father having misled the Privy Council as to the number, value, and extent of the parishes composing said Union, although he has two other parishes, St. John's in Dublin, and the Archdeaconry of Kilmacduagh.

We therefore humbly entreat Your Excellency will cause inquiry to be made into a grievance which affects the best interests of religion, truth and justice, which involves a very great private wrong, and a very great public discontent and disrepute to the Established Church, in a district where the revenues of the clergy were collected with facility and satisfaction when demanded. Petitioners were not aware till within the last few weeks (when the Archbishop's statement to the Privy Council was made a public document) that the present state of things was the result of His Grace's elaborate statement; and although Petitioners drew up a Memorial complaining of this grievance to the late Government, it was suppressed by Doctor Fletcher, from a reluctance to expose this corruption in the Church, but remains still in our possession to be produced if required.

We, the undersigned Petitioners, having every reason to believe that the statements of the foregoing Petition are founded in fact, and considering them as forming a just ground of inquiry, do submit them to the consideration of Your Excellency, for whatever redress Your Excellency can afford. And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c. &c.
